Registration on the third day in the city showed a gain of 891 over 1957, but was 528 under 1956, the last presidential year, although the three-day total of 9,318 was considerably ahead of 1957.

Today is the last day of registration and polls will remain open in the city and rural areas until 10 p. m. Eligible voters must be registered to vote in the Nov. 4 election.

Ahead of Last Week
A total of 3,242 voters registered in the city on Friday compared with 2,351 on the third day in 1957 and 3,770 in 1956. 1957 was the last mayoralty year.

Friday's total was ahead of the first and second registration days—last Friday and Saturday. A total of 3,155 registered the first day and 2,921 on the second day.

Totals in New York State so far generally were about the same as in 1954, the last year a governor was elected, the Associated Press reported.

Albany, Troy Down
Albany and Troy personal registration totals for three days were substantially below those of four years ago. Utica's was up. Most other cities checked showed only slight increases or decreases.

The Associated Press quoted Census Bureau figures in Washington which disclosed that the state has 284,000 more citizens of voting age than in 1956.

The bureau figures the state's current voting potential is about 10,832,000, as against 10,548,000 in 1956.

The actual vote in the 1956 presidential election in the state was 7,093,000. Of this 4,340,000 was Republican, 2,458,000 was Democrat.

Model Rail Show
Will Open Sunday

An old-fashioned circus street parade, complete with bands, cage wagons, elephants, and the calliope will be a feature in miniature at the annual exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club, Inc., opening Sunday, Oct. 12, at 2:30 p. m.

The circus display is a scale model presentation of one-quarter inch to the foot—the same scale utilized in the construction of the entire miniature railroad system of the local club. The parade winds its way down the main street of "Marnett City," principal city on the club's Hudson Valley Lines which was named in honor of the late William H. Marnett, club officer and artist.

Other features of the local public display include a waterfront scene, bridge construction, a trap rock plant, extensive switching yards, engine terminals, and the mainline operations of the railroad system. Various types of both steam and diesel locomotives will be hauling miniature trains showing all types of freight and passenger cars in use on the railroads of the nation. A circus train will

Decision Reserved
On Naming Police

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick reserved decision this morning following arguments on charges of illegality in appointment of patrolmen to the Kingston Police Department.

The hearing, attended by some 75 persons, was on a show cause order asking why the employment of certain patrolmen should not be discontinued on grounds that they were appointed illegally.

The hearing was moved to U.

ster County Courthouse following adjournment Friday in Supreme Court in Albany.

Cahill initiated proceedings to move the hearing to Kingston after it was noted that the matter was listed as 189th on the special term calendar in Albany. The petition also asked that payments to such patrolmen be stopped.

Get 10 Days to Fill

Judge Schirick gave the parties to the litigation 10 days to file memoranda.

Matthew V. Cahill, former city judge and corporation counsel, appeared on behalf of his son, Richard T. Cahill, 466 Albany Avenue and "others similarly situated," claiming that certain appointments were illegal.

Representing the respondents was former county judge William A. Kelly, city corporation counsel. Listed as respondents were Mayor Edwin F. Radel, the Board of Police Commissioners, the local Civil Service Commission and the city treasurer. The mayor sat with Kelly.

Holds List Valid

Cahill held that the civil service list was valid, that violations of law occurred in appointing the patrolmen.

He said that the board of police commissioners skipped over numbers one and three, appointing numbers two, four, five, six and seven, but that number eight was not apparently considered. Later a second list was called for and submitted, containing names from nine to 16 but not listing one, three and eight, he said.

Cahill, with his son sitting beside him, argued that number eight was not on the second list either. Numbers one, three and eight should have topped the list he contended.

He said that number 11 was also passed over on the second list.

Says Appointments Illegal
He argued that these appointments were illegal and that, if they were so judged, then all subsequent appointments were illegal.

Kelly argued that the sole error alleged in the petition (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

Vessel's Maiden Voyage Will Salute Hudson Valley Sunday

A new Grace Line ship, making her maiden voyage, is due to salute New York State, and particularly the Hudson Valley, Sunday when it will sail up the river to Albany.

The $25,000,000 Santa Paula, sister ship of the Santa Rosa, will leave New York early Sunday and is due to pass Kingston at 12:50 p. m. It will sail back to New York Monday.

Designed to ply the Atlantic and Caribbean, it is 584 feet long, 84 feet wide, and has a displacement of 20,000 tons. Gibbs & Cox Naval Architects designed her, and she was built by the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., Newport News, Va.

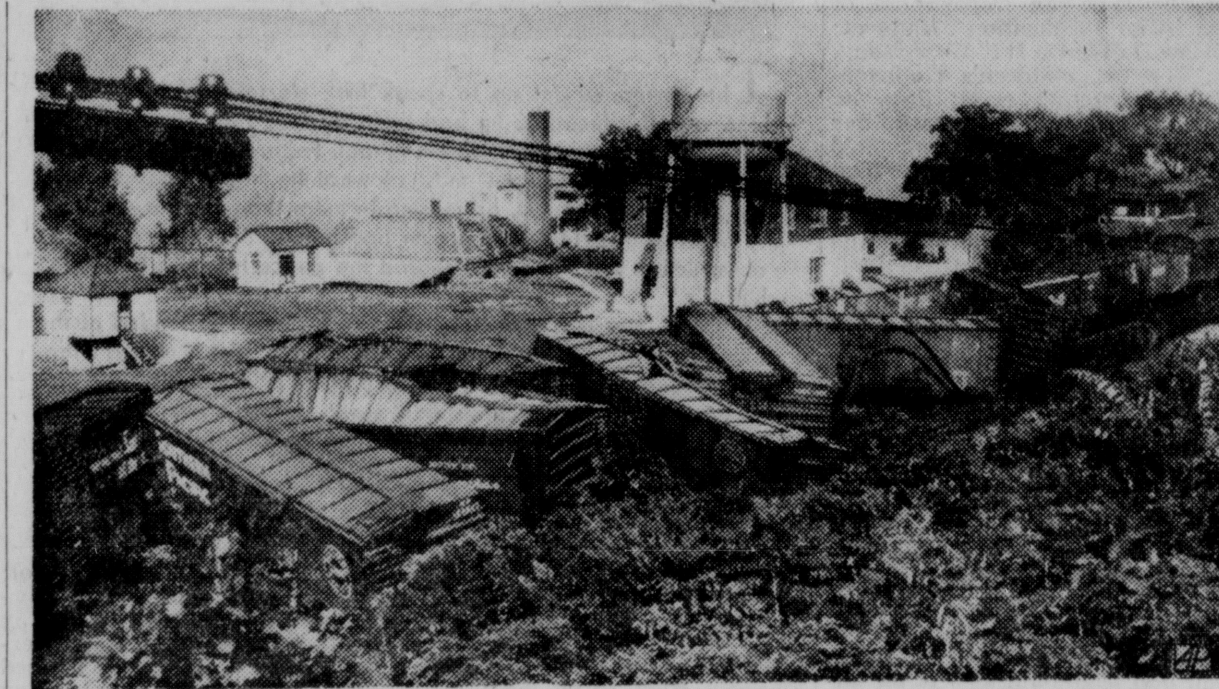

Sea trials off the coast of Virginia were completed Sept. 29 and 30. She is due to join her sister ship Oct. 17, and together they will maintain the Grace Line's weekly 12-day cruise service to the Caribbean and South America, visiting Curacao, Venezuela, Jamaica, Nassau and Port Everglades, Fla.

The Santa Paula sails from Pier 57, West 15th Street, New York at 5:45 a. m., Sunday. It is due in Albany at 5 p. m. After passing here at 12:50 p. m., it is due at Saugerties at 1:40 p. m., and will sail under the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, Catskill at 2:25 p. m. It leaves Albany Monday at 6 a. m., and is due back in New York at 5 p. m.

Air conditioned throughout, the ship accommodates 300 passengers, all first class. It has a dry cargo capacity of approximately 377,000 cubic feet, and a refrigerated cargo capacity of 81,000 cubic feet.

Outlook Dim
For Pact on Nuclear Ban

By TOM HOGGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The first round of the U.N. arms debate showed the United States and the Soviet Union so sharply split that diplomats saw little hope today of agreement on suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

So diametrically opposed were the two big powers that observers predicted a dark future for the Big Three negotiations that are to begin in Geneva on Oct. 31 on a test ban.

Reds for 'All Time' Ban

The United States, in the debate Friday, declared it would suspend tests indefinitely, provided there is a reasonable year-to-year progress in other fields of disarmament.

Russia insisted she would agree to halt the tests only if the United States and Britain accepted an immediate ban for "all time."

The United States followed up its position by introducing its resolution Friday night for suspension of tests during the Geneva talks.

Procession Begins
Past Bier of Pope

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A silent, endless river of humanity flowed today through St. Peter's Basilica and around the body of Pope Pius XII, his face austere and peaceful in death.

The pontiff, clad in the robes in which he will be buried on Monday, lay directly under the great cupola and above the tomb of his predecessor, St. Peter.

The side doors of the basilica opened at dawn. The long procession began. Men, women and children entered doors at the right and moved across slowly, shoulder to shoulder, held within borders by wooden stands.

Some Weep

They moved with sounds of shuffling and whispered words. They turned silently to look at the patrician countenance they had known so long and that now was waxen and still, a golden bishop's miter on the head.

The red-silk covered feet stood out, slightly angled, in what appeared to be over-large slippers. Twenty-four candles cast a golden glow on the Pope, slightly inclined on a six-foot high catafalque so that his lean face was higher and clearly visible.

Thousands View Body

By noon, hundreds of thousands, moving in a 20-foot-wide solid stream, had already passed by the Pope.

The Pope's body had been brought to the Vatican Friday night from the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo, 18 miles away in the Alban Hills, where he died at 82 Thursday.

Meeting in Vatican quarters across St. Peter's Square, a group of 16 cardinals made further arrangements today for the funeral of Pope Pius and the choice of his successor.

The Vatican announced these decisions:

Funeral Is Monday
The Roman Catholic Church's 261st pontiff will be buried beneath the basilica in funeral services starting at 4 p. m. Monday, Oct. 13. The services will last about an hour and a half.

The secret conclave of the College of Cardinals to elect the 262nd Pope will begin at 4 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 25. Most of the church's 55 cardinals are expected to attend.

The election will be held behind locked doors of the Vatican's Sistine Chapel. The Cardinals may choose the new pontiff from among their own number, or perhaps select a prelate who is not a prince of the church. The balloting will go on until the choice is made by two-thirds plus one of the cardinals present.

The opening of the basilica's doors today signaled the beginning of a solemn nine-day period (Continued on Page 20, Col. 4)

Satellite Is Moving at 25,000 - MPH;
May Actually Strike Surface of Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The world's first lunar probe today apparently took off slightly low but the rocket payload is moving out in space toward the moon.

The men who launched the moon rocket told a news conference more than two hours after the shoot that data received from the instruments aboard was still too limited to permit any accurate estimates of the lunar probe's altitude and speed.

Dramatic Launching

The rocket was spinning through space at some 25,000 m.p.h. after its dramatic launching at 3:42 a. m.

In Washington, the Defense Department announced that if the lunar probe should attain a desired orbit around the moon—and it will not be known for some time whether this will be achieved—the satellite would stay within 40,000 miles of the moon for at least seven days.

The department also said that it is theoretically possible that the satellite might actually strike the surface of the moon or even pass beyond the influence of the moon's gravity and go out into outer space beyond the range of earth tracking stations.

To Measure Radiation

It was disclosed for the first time that instruments carried by the satellite include one for measuring the intensity of radiation during flight from the earth to the moon.

Inclusion of these instruments experiment was prompted partly by the recent discovery of a potentially dangerous band of radiation beginning about 600 miles above the earth and continuing on out to an as yet undetermined altitude.

Speeds May Be Lower

At a news conference Dr. Louis Dunn, president of Space Technology Laboratories, Los Angeles, which developed the lunar probe, said there were some indications that the launching speeds had been slightly lower than were scheduled.

He said the first stage appeared to have "programmed" — started curving on its trajectory to the northeast—higher than it should have.

However, the launching was considered a great success because the stages all fired in proper sequence at full thrust, and the payload of instruments in the nose soared into space.

If all goes well, the missile should approach within 50,000 miles of the moon some time Monday afternoon.

The instrument packed nose cone was described by the Defense Department in a statement as "the most sophisticated man-made fast-finding device ever thrust into the heavens."

30 Pounds of Instruments

Within the fiber-glass shell are 30 pounds of instruments designed to:

1. Collect and relay information on the magnetic fields of the earth and the moon.
2. Record the number of micrometeorites it encounters.
3. Measure radiation intensity during flight from the earth to the moon.
4. Determine internal temperature inside the satellite during flight.
5. Obtain a crude electronic picture of the surface of the moon.

It carried, too, television scanning equipment to gathering data on the hidden far side of the moon.

May Take Five Days

Dr. Robert Bennett, director of electronics for the program, said that if the lunar probes does go on around or pass the moon, it may take about five days to gather the scanning data sufficiently to provide a crude picture of the moon.

Scientists at the news conference also disclosed that if their calculations are right the moon will pass directly above Hawaii 2 1/2 days after launching, so that a powerful radio station there (Continued on Page 7, Col. 2)

J. W. Condon New
Police Secretary

The post of executive secretary of New York State Police Conference, held by Peter J. Keresman of Kingston for 25 years, was filled this week with the election of John W. Condon Jr. of Buffalo at a meeting in Albany.

Keresman, one of the conference organizers, resigned the post effective August 15 at the organization's 33rd convention in June at Monticello.

Albany Law Graduate

Condon, a 1950 graduate of Albany Law School, was elected at a meeting of the organization committee of the conference.

In Keresman's letter of resignation to the presidents of all affiliated units of the conference, he cited the organization's low budget and declared it "patently an impossibility" to operate on such monies "and one that I am not prepared to take."

"We will have about $20,000, including registration fees which leaves us facing the problem of properly conducting the affairs of the conference on a budget so limited it might as well be nonexistent. Our conference is committed yearly to authorize expenditure of about $13,000, which covers only the over-all organizational expenses."

"In all good faith to the policemen of the state, and the many officials and citizens who have come to know, respect and support the conference and to rely (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

Third State Tax
Deadline Nov. 15

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — You don't have to pay the third installment on your state income tax until Nov. 15. The deadline is not Oct. 15, as it used to be.

The State Tax Department issued this reminder today so that taxpayers would not jump the gun and snarl the department's accounting system.

The deadline was changed from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15 six years ago. But it seems that many taxpayers, apparently unaware of the change, send in their payments before receiving the customary punched-card bill from the state.

The department says it has great difficulty trying to match early-bird payments with the proper accounts.

The bills will be mailed out around the first of November.

The deadline for the fourth and final installment is Feb. 15.

Ike Contends U.S. Rebounding
From Slump, Outlook Is Bright

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower is heading for the political firing line next week contending the country is rebounding from the recession and can look forward to continued recovery.

The President, spending a week-end at his Catoclin Mountain Lodge near here, Friday hailed a new government report on the job situation.

The Commerce and Labor departments said unemployment decreased by 588,000 last month—a more-than-usual drop for September. They also reported more jobs were opening up in durable goods plants that were hard hit by the recession.

In a statement with political overtones, Eisenhower said the figures are evidence of an "accelerating rate of recovery." Without spelling them out, he said "there are also good reasons for expecting a continuing recovery in our economy during the months ahead."

The President undoubtedly spoke with an awareness that the Democrats are trying to capitalize on issues that touch the private purse during the congressional election campaign. He said it is "noteworthy that the improvement in employment conditions... has been accomplished while the cost of living has been virtually stable."

Vice President Nixon also enthused over the latest job report. He said an increase in manufacturing employment shows "we are on the way to the record employment we all want for America's wage earners."

Speaking at a Republican rally in Pittsburgh, Nixon said "We have pulled out of the recession, are having a good year in 1958 and are on the way to the best year in our history in 1959."

However, AFL-CIO President George Meany said in Washington the new unemployment figures "represent modest improvement (Continued on Page 7, Col. 4)

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The cartoonist got up to speak first. He told how, lacking a high school education, he had been advised that his talents did not warrant further study in art school. Faith, however, gave him the strength to make the most of what he had. Today he is a top political cartoonist, appearing in more than 100 newspapers.

An engineer told how prayer had helped him solve a difficult construction task. A dentist shared the peace his faith had given him.

These inspiring talks were given at a dinner I attended of the Christian Business Men's Committee International, which has chapters throughout the United States and in 19 countries.

Its aim is to "live consistently seven days a week, employing the study of the Word, prayer, constant vigilance, toward becoming Christian-like in personal, family, social and business life."

The Rev. A. W. Trinklein of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Sherman Avenue, New York City, will be the guest missionary at services in Immanuel Lutheran Church, 22 Livingston Street, here, October 12 through October 16, nightly at 7:45 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to all services.

Texas Evangelist Ends Preaching Tour of Russia

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

"I'd like to challenge anyone who says there's a religious revival in Russia," says Tommy Hicks, a Texas-born evangelist who recently made a 32-day preaching tour of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. Mr. Hicks, who has spent the greater part of the past five years evangelizing on foreign shores, draws a bleak picture of religion outside the large Russian cities of Leningrad and Moscow. "Back in 1955," he says, "the newspaper Pravda announced that Christianity would be dead in Russia within 10 years. From my latest observations, I'd say they don't need that long."

How It's Done
How are the Soviets doing it? "They're taking the children out of the church," says the Rev. Mr. Hicks. "They're luring them away by giving them an esteemed place in the nation."

"They have children's clubs and the members get to do things and go places that nonmembers do not get to. If a boy or girl is a Christian he or she is ruled out of membership."

The Rev. Mr. Hicks preached at 23 services during his tour. Arrangements were made through local pastors. The evangelist says he does not know precisely how the pastors obtained permission.

Simple Preaching
"I preached as simply as I could," he says, "mostly from John 3:16—'For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.'"

He preached through interpreters. "The only time I was sure I was getting a good interpretation was when I had a Christian interpreter. Some were atheists and some just had no comprehension of Christian phrases."

"Churches are tolerated in Moscow and Leningrad," he says, "but it seems to be only a show for tourists. In the smaller cities, church attendance is small and quiet. They don't want to attract attention."

Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL
FOOLED BY THE NOISE

A man in Texas heard about a factory in Fremont, Ohio, that was interested in buying bullfrog skins. Immediately he wired the bullfrog company that, upon demand, he could supply them with almost unlimited quantities of the skins—at least up to 100,000. Since the factory needed the skins badly they sent a wire right back: "Send us the whole 100,000 at once!" It ran along about ten days and a single dried little frog skin arrived in the mail, along with this rather pathetic note: "Gents: I'm sorry about this, but here's all the frog skins there were. The noise fooled me." One frog croaking at the top of his voice may sound like an innumerable company of the semi-aquatic creatures. But when a person sets out on the actual project of capturing them, in order to make money on their hides, sad disillusionment descends. The old adage advises us not to count our chickens before they hatch. And it is wise, also, not to estimate how many frogs there are in the pond by the noise they make.

Noise is not a sound criterion for judgement. The "hurrah" boys may sound like a staunch army of helpers. But when it comes right down to the cold, hard realities of getting worth while things done—they are harness shy. Those who talk the loudest and the longest about how glad they will be to help at any time, are usually hard to find when the time is at hand to roll up the sleeves and go to work. The earliest locomotives had very little surplus steam. Sometimes the engineer had to lay off the whistle in order to have enough steam to make the grade. The engine that made the least noise did the greatest amount of work. And it is usually that way with people also.

Emerson was giving counsel about the importance of not being fooled by the noise when he said: "What you are speaks so loudly that I cannot hear what you say." Advice is easy to give. But so often we are strong on counsel expressed in words, and weak on the only kind of influence that really counts—the kind that is a silent part of the texture of daily life. I read about a father who went to his pastor in desperation because his boy was getting into trouble. He said he would do anything to get his boy back into the church. He would talk to him, he would provide transportation; he would do anything—except go to church himself! That pastor wasn't fooled by the noise. He could see that the father only sounded concerned.

When our Lord was here he was not fooled by the noise. He took some "nice talkers" to task one day, saying: "Why call me Lord and God, and not the things which I say?" He didn't judge by noisy acclaim. He sought out the silent evidence of deeds. He didn't stake His hopes on those who could shape the most devotional sounds. He used the dependable criterion of action. That is the only kind that is worth a hill of beans.

Nuclear Reactor Is 'Missionary' Gift to Japan

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A strange and expensive "missionary"—described as packing more power than an preacher—was being readied today for service in Japan. It's an atomic reactor.

It will cost a half million dollars.

The Protestant Episcopal Church's General Convention laid plans for sending the unusual gift to the Orient, and also prepared to elect a new presiding bishop this morning.

The project to give St. Paul's University in Tokyo a nuclear reactor for "peaceful study, research and medical therapy" was cited as a means for a "powerful Christian witness in Japan."

It can "stimulate and strengthen the work of the church in the Far East with a dramatic force beyond easy understanding," a special committee, headed by Bishop Oliver J. Hart of Philadelphia, said.

In Japan, it said, people know little of atomic energy's blessings but much of its curse—including the World War II explosions on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

For the church to take "this great new force and use it for good," the report said, will show "God's concern not only for the spiritual well being but the total well being of the whole man as no other missionary effort would."

Confusing

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—It was confusing enough for the maternity ward at a hospital here when two women with identical names were admitted. It got more confusing when both Mrs. William Leach and Mrs. William Leach gave birth to baby girls on the same day.

Johann Gutenberg, a German, invented movable type in 1450, which makes today's newspapers possible.

Attendance awards will be presented and the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor, will give a sermonette.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 11, 1958

10 TONIGHT IS THE DEADLINE

Residents of Ulster County will vote for a governor, lieutenant governor, comptroller, attorney general, United States senator, justice of supreme court, member of congress, state senator, assemblyman, district attorney, county treasurer and coroner at the general election on November 4.

Unless you register by 10 o'clock tonight, you will have no opportunity to vote for these offices.

S. Hazard Gillespie, Jr., president of the New York State Bar Association, warns that these men are the persons who will serve as your representatives. They make, administer and judge the laws under which you live. Your opportunity to determine which men shall represent you will come at the November elections.

But unless you register, you cannot make this decision. In short, you will be giving up your opportunity to help determine the laws under which you will live. You will be foregoing a vital responsibility not only to yourself but to others as well.

Tonight at 10 is the deadline. If you want to vote on Election Day, November 4, you must register.

NEW ERA FOR FRANCE

The French people have taken a historic turning in the road. In a few months they will begin setting up their first really strong republican government.

The vote of nearly 4 to 1 by which the French union approved a new constitution was bigger than all but the most optimistic forecasts.

It represents a smashing vote of confidence in Premier Charles de Gaulle. For this is his constitution and he is expected to be the first occupant of the powerful new presidency established under it.

The huge vote also reflects French fear of the alternative: a return to the wobbly, unstable government of the fourth republic, some sort of popular front with the Communists in the driver's seat, or a rightist dictatorship.

In this situation the French chose De Gaulle and the first constitution in that country's history to set up an executive stronger than the legislative branch.

It is agreed that most Frenchmen probably have not grasped the details or the full import of the constitution they approved.

When they begin to live under it, they may not like it. But the prospect of something worse is likely to stop them short of efforts to shake it off.

As France's leader now and in the future as president, De Gaulle finds his strength and prestige immensely enlarged.

This will be of greatest value to him in dealing with the still unsolved problems of Algeria. The Algerians—in the face of dire rebel threats—voted overwhelmingly for the constitution.

It is not clear whether this indicates faith in De Gaulle, a wish to stay with France, or weariness of long months of bloodshed.

In any event, France looks ahead to a new era in which it may have some real hope of regaining its old place as one of the free world's powerful and resolute nations. It is a turning that all free men can cheer.

Who says it's the Americans who are always looking for something new? We're content with our first republic, but the French are working on their fifth.

RED SWINDLE SHEETS

The expense account, that familiar perquisite which enables so many busy Americans to live beyond their means, has come to the workers' paradise. Pravda, the official Russian newspaper, says that business executives (who in Russia, of course, are state employees) have in five months squandered the equivalent of $13,300,000 of government money on expense-paid trips to Moscow.

Pravda complains also that the visiting

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
TAXING SCHOOLS

Curious things happen all over the country in these years of high taxes and high costs of living. Despite plenty of jingling money in the pockets of the speculators, labor and farmers, but not in the pockets of salaried people like policemen, firemen and school teachers, the inflation is putting a tight squeeze on everybody. The jingling money is not worth much in a store or for a suit of clothes.

And the inflation grows increasingly more dangerous because already the government has difficulty in disposing its bonds and what it has to pay for its money is too high; at the same time the stock market is moving up too high in a professional effort to hedge against inflation by devices which have never worked. Also real estate is changing hands too actively which is always an index to inflation. Inflation is a disease which can destroy a country more surely than war or pestilence.

Whenever taxes are too high, citizens turn to possible economies and one, based usually on bigotry, is to attempt to force private and independent schools to pay taxes. The theory is that the state provides a school system and every child should be sent to such a school willingly or unwillingly. I note, for instance, that in California there is a "Citizens United Against Taxing Schools." This organization is fighting to keep exempt from taxation private, non-profit schools below the collegiate grade.

The issue, it would seem to me, is simple. Does an enterprise earn a profit or not? If there is no profit, there should be no tax. If the school is run as a business for a private individual, it should be taxed the same as any other business. Obviously, the objective of the movement to tax elementary and high schools is not to reduce taxes, for the result is bound to show increased tax, but to abolish the religious school, the parochial school, the Talmud Torah, etc.

We are prepared to thunder against the Communists for closing down religious schools of all denominations. We call them atheistic Communists. In this effort, in Soviet Russia, the spearhead was the Bezbozniki, the Society of the Godless. But when we tax the religiously-conducted schools, whether Roman Catholic, Lutheran or other groups, or Jewish, we adopt a method for so increasing the cost of operating these schools as to be prohibitive.

But quite apart from the religiously-conducted school, there are a number of private and independent schools in this country to which parents send their children. These parents are willing to pay double, once in the form of a municipal school tax from which they gain no benefit and the second time in the form of a fee for services rendered. They are willing to pay twice because they assume that their children will receive educational advantages because of smaller classes, better equipment, more competent teachers. This is not always a correct judgment and sometimes these schools have nothing to add but snobbery.

Nevertheless, if parents prefer to send their children to such schools, it is difficult to understand why they should not be permitted to do so and why such schools should be taxed as they are not profit-making institutions. For instance, the Quakers have a number of such schools which, wherever they exist, are regarded as superior institutions. Many of the private schools are superior organizations.

In California, this question is apparently coming up before the voters as a referendum. In 1952, a measure on this subject was defeated. Opponents of the private schools then appealed through the courts and were defeated. Now, they are at it again. Those who favor taxing schools base their contentions on bigotry only; they have no other argument to resort to, which would be true anywhere. These same people criticize the Soviet countries for doing there what they are trying to do here.

In California, the 643 Catholic, 390 Protestant and 43 Jewish and non-sectarian schools provide for about 340,000 pupils. What would be the savings if all these pupils were added to the municipal cost? Would it not be preferable to teach the children religion in some form rather than to produce children who have no guidance in right living? Would it harm a child to be taught the Ten Commandments?

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Encourage Child to Voice His Anger, Not Conceal It

That Saturday morning, because his own ball mitt was ripped, Bud decided to use his kid brother's. Dave caught him with it. There was a scuffle that ended with Bud in possession of the mitt. Crying with helpless rage, Dave sought his father for retribution.

His father wouldn't listen. "Can't you see I'm changing a tire?" he shouted. "Beat it! I can't drive downtown with this flat. . . ."

At dinner Dave had to be called four times to the table. He dawdled so long over bedtime that his father lost his temper again. Later when his mother called, "Is your light out, Dave?" he took so long to answer that she had to go upstairs to check his light herself.

Dave was obstructing his parents' expectations of him in retaliation for their resistance of his expectations of them.

Children often resort to this kind of protest. When they do, the simple intelligent thing is to say, "If you're so mad, why don't you say so instead of pretending you don't hear me?"

Otherwise they may develop a habit of expressing their anger at us by resisting behavior instead of by resisting words.

This is an unfortunate development. When a child first resorts to protest by action, he's usually aware of his wish to punish us. But if he's not encouraged to put the anger into words, he may begin to lose his awareness of the wish. Gradually, he begins to give us stubborn behavior automatically. Whenever he feels in the least pushed or coerced, he'll immediately respond with resistance out of his accumulated need to triumph over us.

Then it may be too late to get him to put his anger into words. When we say, "If you're mad, why don't you say so?" he'll just glare at us sullenly as though he didn't know what we are talking about.

We've all known adults who seem unable to do anything that others expect of them. They are the people who are always late for appointments; who make promises without knowing they don't intend to keep them; who may end by an inability to act even in their own behalf lest the act please somebody else.

We don't want our little boys and girls to become prisoners of this kind of paralysis.

firemen do not spend all their time in the government offices, but take in football games, plays, movies and art galleries—all on the government's time. This bears out the view that Russians, if let alone by their government, would soon show by their behavior that they and we have much in common.

That notion is heresy in the Soviet Union. It may yet prove to be the catalyst that will bring evolutionary, if not revolutionary, change in Russia.

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The role of organized labor's political activity in this year's election campaign is a funny one.

From the Republican point of view, it would appear that the GOP is more frightened of union political action groups than it is of the Democratic party.

At COPE—the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education—the saying is that "The GOP is running against Walter Reuther in 21 states."

These would be 18 northeastern states and the three Pacific coast states where unions are strongest. South of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi to the Rockies, COPE admittedly doesn't cut much ice, though it has paper organizations in 48 states.

REUTHER, OF COURSE, isn't running for anything. He has been in serious trouble all year trying to get new contracts for his United Auto Workers. Its treasury has been hard hit by the recession. Reuther isn't considered nearly as big a guy or as big a threat as he was two years ago.

It was the activity of COPE—which supported Democratic candidates in Maine's September election with such telling results—that gave the GOP its scare.

Anti-COPE and anti-Reuther campaigns have been stepped up since then, though GOP spokesmen insist they aren't anti-labor.

Republican headquarters has, however, issued a 200-page typewritten report bearing the title, "The Labor Bosses—America's Third Party."

Most of the text is excerpts from testimony before Senator McClellan's labor racket investigation.

The first section takes the UAW and Reuther apart. The second section deals with minor labor bosses. But excerpts from the testimony of Teamster boss

James R. Hoffa are missing. Reuther is the villain, not Hoffa.

THIRD SECTION OF THE GOP document lists labor union political expenditures in 1956. It is based on reports which all political organizations must make to Congress.

In summary, it shows that eight of the principal union political action groups out of 40 reporting made contributions to about 925 campaign funds for a total of $1,620,000. There are many duplications. The average contribution was $175, which isn't very big.

The eight groups were COPE, Auto Workers, Steel Workers, Machinists Nonpartisan Political League, International Ladies Garment Workers Campaign Committee, Railway Labor's Political League, Trainmen's Political Education League and Amalgamated Clothing Workers Political Fund.

All these organizations are again active this year, but not nearly as active as they were two years ago. The money they spent—ranging from $9,700 from the Trainmen for 75 candidates to $245,000 from UAW for 150 and $694,000 from COPE for 300—was collected in a presidential election year when there was more interest.

ALSO, THERE WAS MORE loose money then because of greater prosperity. This year organized labor's political leaders say they won't have nearly that much to spend.

Committee for Constitutional Government, one of the pressure groups now trying to raise $90,000 to whop up the anti-Reuther campaign, claims that labor organizations have spent 100 million from testimony before Senator McClellan's labor racket investigation.

Union political leaders say in rebuttal that they wish they had such money, but it doesn't exist. They point out further that the $1,620,000 which Republicans accuse them of collecting in 1956 from over 16 million union labor members is only a little more than the $1,500,000 which 12 prominent Republican families and a few Texas oil tycoons gave the GOP that same year.

Total political expenditures in 1956 have been estimated by congressional committees at over 200 million dollars. Labor political funds were less than 1 per cent of that, and may be less this year.

Letters to The Editor must bear the name of the writer. Communications must be limited to 300 words free of label and personal attacks upon individuals and must be original communications addressed to The Freeman will be printed.

The Lost Art of Letter Writing
Did you ever get a cheerful lift at the start of the day from a letter?

You read it quickly as you drink your coffee. Sometime later in the day you may linger over it again trying to interpret each word that may lend itself to various meanings.

Now, of course, a phone call is a special delight, but like all pleasant moments it passes too quickly. Often, too, in the excitement we may forget a bit of news. Not so with a letter, for one may always add a Post Script. Just a smudge of little fingers will spell Love to Grandma.

So if you have a dear one some distance from you, why not try the Lost Art of Letter Writing?

In years gone by, when people were only slightly literate, writing a letter was a difficult chore. Yet today people who have received an excellent education find letter writing an unpleasant task. Perhaps it is the pressure of Time in our busy lives! However, a short note should not be too time consuming.

Your tidings will surely bring joy to your dear one afar, which will return to you in grateful reply.

For a letter is very much akin to the "Quality of Mercy"—It blesses him who gives and him who receives.

Danger and Direction Signs Along the Marriage Road

You can be sure that: Your husband will soon tire of telling you he loves you if you are always asking him if he does.

The man you're married to may sooner or later justify your suspicions if you don't trust him out of your sight.

Buying you a gift will become a dreaded chore if you make a practice of exchanging the gifts your husband brings you or wondering out loud why he didn't buy something you really needed.

Your husband will resent your job if you are forever talking about it or forever saying "my money."

If you side with your child every time your husband tries to discipline him you'll have the job of child-rearing all to yourself.

Your husband will soon learn to "tune you out" whenever he wants a little peace and quiet if you insist on talking all the time. The compliments other women pay your husband will be twice as flattering if you are stingy with yours.

If you keep talking about the men you might have married your husband will have moments of wishing you had married one of them.

If you criticize the way your husband does a job when he is trying to be helpful around the house you won't get much help in the future.

If you honestly and truly think you have the nicest husband in the world and let him know it he'll do his darndest not to disappoint you.

Along with Dufy, Matisse, Marquet, Derain and Braque, Vlaminck outraged French art critics with the works he exhibited near the turn of the century. Now they hang in the major museums of the world and bring fabulous prices.

Doubts Rush to Glass

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vice president of General Motors says it is unlikely that GM dealers will rush into the auto glass replacement business because GM has cut its glass prices to them.

The opinion came Friday from William F. Hufstader in reply to protests of small glass manufacturers against the GM cut.

The question is before the Senate small business subcommittee on monopoly. It is studying distribution problems affecting auto glass.

W. B. Chase, president of the Shatterproof Glass Corp. of Detroit, testified that the GM price cut to its dealers, effective last July 1, threatened serious trouble for independent shops in the business of replacing auto glass.

Mother of Slain Aquino Boys Is Treated for Pills

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Belle Conley, mother of the murdered Aquino brothers, was rushed to a hospital early this morning, where physicians successfully treated her for an overdose of sleeping pills.

She was listed in fair condition. Friends told police she had become increasingly bitter over police failure to solve the September slayings of her sons. Three days ago she offered a $10,000 reward for a solution to the crimes.

Police said Mrs. Conley, 47, was found unconscious in her apartment at the Virginia Hotel, which she owns. She said an empty box which had originally contained 30 sleeping capsules was on a table nearby.

Mrs. Conley's son Frank, 28, was found shot to death in Lackawanna Sept. 13. The naked, acid-drenched body of his brother Fred, 25, was found four days later in a field in Tonawanda, on the other side of the city.

Authorities have questioned numerous persons but admitted today that they were making little progress towards a solution.

Name Missourian As Episcopal Presiding Bishop

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Arthur Carl Lichtenberger, bishop of Missouri, today was elected presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.

He becomes the spiritual leader and chief executive officer for the 3 million member denomination, effective Nov. 15.

The 58-year-old Missourian was elected by fellow ranking prelates, the 190-man House of Bishops, at the church's triennial General Convention.

He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, who reached mandatory retirement age of 68 for presiding bishops after occupying the post 11 years. When a bishop is named to the church's foremost office, he retains it until he retires.

Besides leading the denomination, he also is the main representative in this country of the worldwide Anglican communion of 40 million Christians.

Bishop Lichtenberger is the 21st elected to the presiding office in the nearly 200-year history of the American church.

After the election at All Souls Church, the bishops' decision was relayed to the House of Deputies which was awaiting the word about a mile away in a hotel.

The 630 deputies, half of them laymen and half clergymen, concurred in the choice.

Nine bishops had been placed in nomination for the high post before the prelates went into their closed session which began with the Lord's Supper. Bishop Sherrill was celebrant.

The convention also laid plans for sending a half million dollar atomic reactor to Japan.

Tug Reaches Port After Losing Scow

PORT BURWELL, Ont. (AP) — The tugboat C. West Pete battled her way into the harbor here today after being reported overdue and losing her scow.

The scow broke loose in 40 to 50 mile an hour winds and was beached about two miles east of this port, 20 miles southwest of St. Thomas on Lake Erie.

The 45-foot diesel powered tug, owned by Underwater Gas Explorations of Port Alma, was reported missing Friday but spotted by a search plane 10 miles southeast of here Friday night.

The tug had been trying to get into Port Burwell harbor since late Friday morning but was buffeted by strong winds, which at times reached gale force.

The C. West Pete arrived here at 5:45 a. m. The scow broke loose when it became filled with water from crashing waves. None of the six-man crew was injured.

Faubus Elated Over School Fund

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus talked optimistically Friday about getting private, segregated schools under way here by the middle of next week.

He also revealed his office is receiving more than $3,000 a day in contributions for private schools.

Most of this money is coming from out of state, Faubus said.

Dr. T. J. Raney, head of the Little Rock Private School Corp., agreed with the governor that a start on private classes might be made by Oct. 15.

On that date the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis will hear further arguments on its temporary restraining order against lease of Little Rock's four closed high schools to a private operator.

The private school corporation is hunting buildings and teachers. Earlier this week Faubus announced he was sending out letters asking for donations to a private school fund. He said Friday that there hasn't been time for recipients of the letters to respond.

Faubus closed Central, Hall, Tech and all-Negro Horace Mann high schools as of Sept. 15 in an anti-integration move. The schools had an enrollment of 3,698 but since their closing more than 500 students have transferred. Cost of operating all four as public schools was about $700,000 per school year.

The plans for private schooling make no provision for Negroes. No effort to establish private schools has been announced by Negro leaders but Faubus has offered to help raise money if such a move is made.

Hanoi Bells Toll

Katrine Man Is Named to Head 56th Infantry

Capt. Walter A. Perret, of Lake Katrine, was recently elected president of the 56th Infantry New York Guard Officers' Association for 1958-59.

He served for several years with the 1st Battalion Headquarters Detachment of the regiment here and succeeds Col. Charles A. Collins, MD, of White Plains.

Other officers elected at a meeting last weekend were: Maj. Richard F. Riseley, Kingston, and Maj. Joseph A. Zuzzolo, Mt. Vernon, and Lt. Norman A. Croft, Peekskill, vice presidents; Capt. Duncan D. Thompson, Newburgh, delegate-at-large; Maj. Stephen Augustowski, Peekskill, treasurer; Maj. E. M. Joy, Newburgh, secretary; Lt. Col. Lawrence D. Redway, MD, Ossining, historian, and Lt. Col. William J. Guinan, Woodhaven, chaplain.

Honorary Vice Presidents

The three honorary vice presidents are Col. Hiram W. Taylor, Retired, Washington, D. C.; Col. Carlton S. Preston, SRL, Retired, Kingston and Maj. E. M. Joy, SRL, Newburgh.

The officers were elected at the 11th annual dinner and reunion of the association, composed of former officers of the now deactivated 56th Infantry, New York State Guard.

Among the officers from Kingston attending this year's meeting and reunion were Lt. Col. Roland H. Green, Maj. Richard F. Riseley, and Captains W. A. Perret and S. S. Randall, Col. Preston, an honorary vice president of the association, was unable to attend because of illness.

Other members of the association from the Kingston area are Col. John J. Schwenk, Captains C. L. Arnold, A. L. Hanstein, S. G. Hyatt, G. Martin H. Rigby, Jr., and Lieutenants B. S. Davis, N. J. Fowler, W. T. Fuller, R. M. Kalish, R. H. Ker-shaw, H. S. Pangburn, J. Parker, T. J. Plunkett, J. R. Shults, R. J. Torrens Jr., H. C. Van Vleet, and J. G. Weiss.

Attending the meeting also were officers from Catskill, Middletown, Peekskill, White Plains, Yonkers and Mt. Vernon.

The incident occurred just before the end of a football game in which Hammond's undefeated team beat Hammond Clark, a neighborhood rival, 26-7. School officials said the stabbing had nothing to do with the game.

The knife-wielding youth was a Negro, but police said there was no interracial friction involved. The teachers said he was a gate crasher at the game.

The teachers said the youth had drawn a knife on them earlier in the evening when they saw him near a locker room between halves of the game.

Police said the youth had a long juvenile record and was awaiting a hearing on taking part in a recent game fight.

After the double stabbing, the teachers turned the youth over to police, taking him by force from the field.

Both teachers were reported in fair condition today in St. Margaret's Hospital.

Local Police Officer

Keresman was a member of the Kingston Police Department for 22 years and served 14 years as president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association. He said he resigned when city officials objected to his police conference organization activities.

Keresman has been a staunch advocate of better state-wide police service for the public and working conditions that would attract the best men in each community to its police department. He promoted legislation in Albany which improved the police job on a state-wide basis including a 40-hour week, an eight-hour day, one day off in seven, right to court review of charges, relief from civil liability in performance of duty, optional 25-year retirement plan, more centrally police inclusion in social security coverage through federal legislation.

Represents 40,000

Through the years Keresman has appeared before various joint legislative committees and organizations on matters dealing with police, law enforcement, civil service and pension matters.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Approximately 27,000 glassworkers at plants in 11 cities were on strike today.

The workers left their jobs at noon Friday in a contract dispute with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Libbey-Owens-Ford companies. Eighteen plants are affected.

Members of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union had been working without a contract since Sept. 25. Negotiations were broken off earlier this month.

A union official said the strike began officially when the deadline passed without an offer from the two firms to resume negotiations. The firms are the nation's largest manufacturers of auto glass.

Some of the plants involved began shutting down earlier this week.

PRESENTS SENT TO BRIDE-GROOM'S HOUSE

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married shortly and several wedding presents were sent here to our house from relatives and friends of ours who did not know the bride's address. When they arrived I opened them. I thought this a perfectly natural thing to do as they were obviously wedding presents and intended for my son as well as the bride. When my son's fiancée came here to visit one evening I, of course, showed her the presents. She seemed very put out because I had opened them and thought that I should have left them intact for her. I would very much like to know if I was wrong.

Answer: Wedding presents are correctly addressed to the bride-to-be and sent to her parents' house. If the ones received were addressed to her and sent to your house you should certainly not have opened them. If they were addressed to you, you were right in opening them before sending them over to be put with the other presents.

Harmless Double Thanks

Dear Mrs. Post: Since arriving here from the East I have noticed that guests call the host and hostess the day after a cocktail party to thank them even though they did thank them verbally when leaving the party. Is this just a local custom, and is it necessary for a resident of a locale where it is not done, to follow it or risk being thought rude or boorish?

Answer: This is a local custom, but remember the old saying, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

Present Given by Office Staff

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary for me to write a thank-you note for a wedding present that was given to my husband at the office by his co-workers and whom he thanked personally at the time it was presented to him?

Answer: No, his thanks in this case are sufficient.

Wedding invitations vary according to the type of wedding planned. Mrs. Post's leaflet E-10, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," includes details. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dr. E. P. Carr of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station C, New York 19, N. Y. ### IBM Net Income Up, Stems From Change to Sales

NEW YORK AP — International Business Machines Corp. reported today net income for the first nine months of the year rose sharply to $91,453,043 equal to $7.72 per common share.

Thomas J. Watson Jr., president, said much of the gain was non-recurring and stemmed from sale to customers of business machines formerly leased. As a result, Watson said the results were not directly comparable with 1957.

In the first nine months of 1957 IBM earned $62,385,591 or $5.27 per share.

Gross income from sales, service and rentals amounted to $866,011,837 compared with $704,407,035 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1957.

Under a consent decree with the Department of Justice made Jan. 25, 1956, the corporation is required to offer for sale, as well as lease, new punched card accounting and data processing machines. It was also required, until July 25, 1958, to permit customers to buy punched card accounting and data processing machines previously leased to them.

For the latest nine months net income includes $15,615,035 derived from outright sale to customers of machines previously leased. This compares with $3,458,009 for the like period last year.

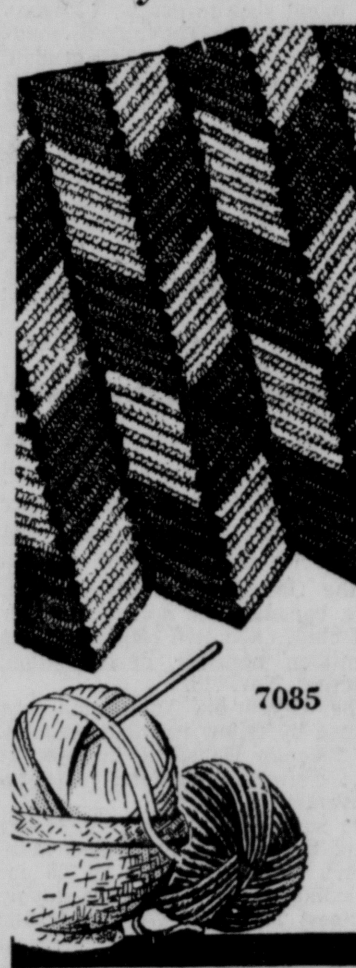

For six months ended June 30, 1958, the corporation reported net income from this source of $1,236,547, so that an additional $14,378,488 was realized from these outright sales in the third quarter of 1958.

Briggs Employees Get Plaque for Chest Donations

As the Community Chest campaign pushed past the half-way point in its appeal for $128,651 for 10-year-round Red Feather services, employees of a fourth company joined the ranks of honor firms to win Plaque Awards.

General Chairman Richard M. Kalish announced that the employees of J. Ellis Briggs, Inc., had qualified for the honor by reporting a gift from 90 per cent of the employees and the achievement of a goal equal to 60 per cent giving the hour's pay a month "Fair Share" suggestion.

J. F. Armater Jr. was the Community Chest volunteer solicitor who worked out the award-winning campaign plan with the employees, represented by "Keyman" Edwards Harms for the local appliance firm.

The half-way report of the campaign was made at noon Friday, when a total of $65,707.27, or 51.3 per cent of the goal was tallied by the volunteers at the Dutch-treat luncheon meeting.

Division reports were: Business and Industry, $45,483, or 54.8 per cent of quota; Special Gifts, $7,132, or 43.2 per cent.

Commercial, $5,676.82, or 54.1 per cent;

Professional, $7,695.10, or 29.9 per cent; Government, $151, or 12.6 per cent; Education, $1,716, or 66.1 per cent; Labor Participation, $1,225, with no set goal; Women's Division, $1,628.33, or 28.1 per cent; Total today, $65,707.27, or 51.3 per cent of the goal.

At the report luncheon, Atorney George A. Beck, local USO chairman, reported that there are 585 young men from the local Community Chest area now serving in the armed forces, exclusive of National Guard and Reserves. USO is one of the 10 agencies benefiting from Community Chest contributions.

These men, he said, are serving in many areas of this country and overseas. Wherever they go, USO is there with show units, service clubs, recreational facilities or other services.

In addition to this national service, Beck pointed out that the local committee arranges for shows, libraries and sport facilities at the camps where local units of Reserves and National Guard train during the summer. Friday's report meeting was called by General Chairman Richard M. Kalish to receive progress reports from all divisions. The invocation was given by the Rev. Francis X. ## None Injured In Bridge Crash

No injuries were reported Friday afternoon in a collision on the Rondout Creek bridge involving a car and dump truck, local police reported.

A report at 4:10 p. m. said a 1953 coupe, owned and operated by W. P. Luce, 34, of 115 Bogert Street, Teaneck, N. J., was involved in a collision with a 1953 dump truck, owned and operated by Sam Lambert, 53, of Selkirk.

Police said the Luce car was stopped in a line of traffic, headed north on the bridge, and the truck skidded into the car.

The Luce vehicle sustained damage to the trunk, rear end bumper and left rear taillight, police reported, while there was no damage to the dump truck.

No injuries were reported, police said. It was raining at the time of the mishap.

IT'S CLOSE-TO-MOON TIME IN OCTOBER—This drawing of approximate distance from earth to moon during mid-October was prepared by the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium in New York, obviously not to scale. October 13 is date on which moon is closest to earth. Dotted line indicates orbit a rocket might travel if there were no disturbing influences of sun and moon. If rocket were fired Oct. 11, for example, with the moon more than two days away, gravitational attraction of the moon could deflect it into orbit indicated by solid line. (AP Wirephoto Chart) could send the signals to ignite a small terminal rocket that could put the probe into an orbit around the moon.

However, they said, if the moon is more nearly over Florida at that particular time, the terminal stage rocket will be fired from Cape Canaveral.

Cautious Handling

Bennett said they expect to know within a day which of the two stations will be called upon to give the probe its final shot. Bennett also said that the probe went through an extensive chemical decontamination process and was handled with caution exceeding that observed in surgical operation rooms, in some cases.

He said this was done because of "some concern that there was reason to keep any earth made living organisms from the moon in order to get a better idea of what truly exists there when people arrive."

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, director of the missile test center, after the jubilant reports of the successful launching, said all additional information will come in Defense Department announcements about every six hours.

The Defense Department described as "perhaps the most important piece of equipment" a "Doppler Command Receiver." This instrument will fire the blast designed to send the satellite around the moon.

Sticking up from the top of "Pioneer," the department said, is a two-eared telemetry antenna to beam the satellite's discoveries to five principal tracking stations around the earth.

Intimate Peek Possible

At these stations information will be taped and transmitted for analysis at Englewood, Calif.

"If America's modern, 20th Century 'Pioneer' carries out its job," the Defense Department said, "the world will have through the IGY, an intimate peek at the moon. . . The initial step to man's conquest of space."

This momentous achievement by the United States came a little more than a year after the Russians startled the world by sending aloft the world's first earth satellite. This country since has sent up four satellites of its own, before today's moon rocket firing by the Air Force.

No Word From Soviet

There was no indication that the Russians have been able to fire a moon rocket yet.

Word of the thrust into space was greeted with loud cheers from the more than 100 newsmen witnessing the launching.

The Air Force, promptly christened its world's first lunar probe the Pioneer.

Today's firing followed an earlier moon rocket which exploded Aug. 17 just 77 seconds after leaving the launching pad.

This rocket performed as hoped for. The Air Force announcement said that after the first 60 minutes of flight into outer space, signals from the payload indicated that Pioneer was proceeding on course at approximately the planned velocity.

The official announcement said: "The Department of Defense gave the name 'Pioneer' today to the payload of the successfully launched U.S. lunar probe rocket, the first man-made object known to escape the earth's gravitational field."

Proceeding On Course

"After the first 60 minutes of flight into outer space, signals received from the highly instrumented payload indicate that the Pioneer is proceeding on course at approximately the planned velocity."

Third Hotel Is Added to Handle Rocky's Dinner

The Rockefeller dinner Oct. 16 has been extended to a third hotel, it was announced today by the Ulster County Republican Committee.

The demand for tickets for the dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel honoring Nelson A. Rockefeller, Republican candidate for governor, has been so great that the county committee has had to expand to two other hotels.

It was announced Thursday that the Rockefeller dinner, his address and the speeches of other candidates, would be piped by wire into the Kirkland Hotel at the corner of Main and Fair Streets.

Today came word that the Kirkland Hotel had been filled and that a third hotel — the Kingston at the corner of John and Fair Streets — had been made available.

The New York Telephone Company will extend wires from the Governor Clinton to each of the other hotels where loud speaker systems will be installed. A spokesman for the committee said this morning that the Kingston Hotel dining room could accommodate 250 persons.

Approximately 650 reservations for the dinner have already been received. Tickets for the dinner are still available. It was pointed out that a new parking area is now available at the rear of the Governor Clinton.

Ike Contends

at best. "More than four million jobless Americans need something better than political statements of satisfaction," Meany said.

In Minot, N.D., former President Harry S. Truman made no mention of the new job report in telling a Democratic rally the Republicans were responsible for high unemployment. He also said the GOP caused high prices, high taxes and high interest rates.

Republican campaign strategists in Washington voiced belief the improved job picture should give a lift to GOP candidates in such industrial states as Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Sunday Eisenhower is flying to New York to speak at Columbus Day and church ceremonies—and to confer with New York Republican candidates. He plans to return to Washington Sunday night.

Tuesday is the President's 68th birthday. On Friday Eisenhower hops off for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on the first leg of a campaign stump tour that will take him also to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago.

Rosendale Man Held On Three Charges

Joseph Peter Genter, 23, of 8 Mountain Road, Rosendale, was arrested Friday night on three charges by local police.

A report at 9:29 p. m. said that Genter was arrested by Officer Garvin Fisher on charges of driving without a license and driving without a registration certificate. Both summonses are returnable Tuesday at 8 p. m. in city court.

Genter was later arrested at police headquarters by Sgt. Carl Janasiewicz on a disorderly conduct charge. He pleaded guilty to that count in city court this morning and sentencing was set for Thursday morning.

Theodore Stark, of Box 259A, Kingston, arrested Oct. 4 on a speeding count by Officer Thomas Kearney Jr. paid a $15 fine in city court today.

Youth, 15, Killed

BRISTOL CENTER, N. Y. (AP)—Kenneth O'Brien, 15, of nearby Blomfield, was killed today when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a highway guard rail three miles north of this Ontario County village.

He is proceeding on schedule. However, it must be emphasized that there exists many difficulties and time lags in its analysis.

"The data when received is transmitted to the National Academy of Sciences International Geophysical Year Committee for transmission to IGY participants in accordance with IGY procedures."

"Pioneer . . . joined the other U.S. satellite successes, Explorer I, III and IV, launched by the Army, and the Navy-launched Vanguard."

Blaze Damages Rooms at Katrine Motel-Restaurant

The living quarters of N-V Motel and Restaurant on Route 9W, Lake Katrine, operated by Nick Vladich, sustained considerable heat and smoke damage during a fire in the bedroom of the building Friday night, Ulster Hose Company No. 5 officials reported.

Raymond Bellows, Ulster Hose captain, said the fire apparently started in an electrical ceiling fixture in the bedroom of the living quarters in the restaurant. The fire caused considerable heat and smoke damage to the living quarters and furniture, he said.

Orville Klomps, first lieutenant, told The Freeman that more than 20 volunteer firemen of the company answered the alarm sounded at 9:05 p. m.

Two pumper trucks of Ulster Hose Company responded.

Former Upstate Man Charged With Embezzling $1,000

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A former department manager of Sears Roebuck store at Buffalo, N. Y., was in police custody here today charged with embezzling more than $1,000 from the store.

Kenneth L. Robertson, 36-year-old father of three, was arrested Friday on a Buffalo warrant. He had been living in a hotel here.

Arraigned in a magistrate court on a fugitive charge, he was released under $2,000 bond, pending a hearing Nov. 18.

A Sears official said an audit disclosed a shortage shortly after Robertson resigned as manager of the ladies ready-to-wear department.

Robertson, his wife, and their children lived in the Town of Aurora near Buffalo before leaving for Kansas City.

Robertson had worked in Geneva, N. Y., before moving to the Buffalo area three years ago.

Upsate Man Is Fatally Stricken On Ferry Trip

PORT KENT, N. Y. (AP)—Roger B. Prescott Sr., a prominent Northern New York businessman, died Friday on a ferry crossing Lake Champlain.

Prescott, 68, had spent the day in Vermont and was returning with his wife to their home in Keeseville when he was stricken, apparently with a heart attack.

A graduate of Princeton, Prescott was president and general manager of R. Prescott and Son Co. of Keeseville. The company deals in lumber and furniture, and manufactures radio and television cabinets.

He also was president of the Keeseville National Bank; treasurer and a director of the Ausable Chasm Co., which operates chasm facilities, and a director of Resort Enterprises, which operates the Polar Caves at Plymouth, N. H.

Besides his wife, the former Edna Haaren of New York City, survivors include two sons, Roger B. Jr. and William H., both of Keeseville.

Escapes Back In South Jail

AIKEN, S. C. (AP)—Three jail escapees were sent back to prison Friday after they pleaded guilty to larceny and armed robbery.

The three are Olin D. Mitchell, 25, of Langley, S. C.; Barry L. Grady, 20, of Penn Yan, N. Y., and James A. Rogers, 19, of Battle Creek, Mich.

They were returned to custody last week, two days after they fled the jail at Beaufort armed with a submachine gun and pistol.

Mitchell, indicted on 12 counts ranging from larceny to armed robbery, was sentenced to a six-year jail term and five years of probation by Judge James H. McFaddin.

Rogers and Grady, each indicted for a holdup and two cases of larceny, were sentenced to two years in jail and two years probation.

In the three cases, the judge sentenced them to longer terms but suspended the execution of the whole sentence.

The larceny indictments stemmed from two car thefts that occurred a few hours after the jailbreak. The holdup took place at a gas company office the day of the break.

Rogers was captured in Norfolk, Va., Grady as he walked along a highway near Penn Yan, and Mitchell surrendered here.

The three face further charges in Beaufort, including one of breaking jail.

The resolution, circulated freely among delegations in unofficial form recently, would have the U. N. General Assembly urge Britain, the Soviet Union and United States make every effort to reach agreement on suspension of nuclear tests at Geneva.

It asks that the three nuclear powers undertake no further tests while the negotiations are in progress.

Board Foot Rule For Lumber Over Six Inches Wide

There are various ways to measure lumber.

A square foot measurement is used for plywood and veneer and lumber more than six inches wide and one-half to two inches thick is measured by the board foot.

When purchasing lumber less than four inches wide and in any length and thickness order it by the lineal foot.

A board foot is a square foot of lumber one inch thick.

And to figure the amount of board feet in a piece of lumber multiply the thickness in inches by the width and length in feet.

So a piece of lumber one by six inches by 10 feet measures five board feet—one inch X one-half foot X 10 feet equals five. If wood is less than an inch thick it is still regarded as having the same thickness in board measurement. The same rule applies to wood less than two inches thick.

A lineal foot is 12 inches in length so a board eight feet long has eight lineal feet.

To figure square footage multiply the width by length. Thus, a sheet of plywood four by eight feet measures 32 square feet.

Awkward Corner Remodeling Easy

Whether a house is old or new, there's apt to be an awkward corner in the living room.

Here's one way to take care of that. Make a three-section screen, 6' high with 1/4" plywood. Three sections, 2-feet wide should be adequate. Then mount magazine pictures you like on the plywood.

A screen like this will conceal ugly heating fixtures and lend a touch of brightness and color to the room.

Grade Low to Allow Light Into Basement

When grading around the back of your new house, it is best to leave the soil about two feet below the top of the foundation wall. This will let a maximum of light through your basement windows. Soil should be graded down from the house so that water will flow away from the foundation.

The Poultnery A Comfortable Small House

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Six
Cubage ..... 27,200 ft.
Dimensions ..... 46'x30'

Simple landscaping is essential with this small, homey type of house. The inviting front entry, the large picture window, and multi-colored asphalt roofing all add welcome decorative touches to the exterior appearance of "The Poultnery."

Attractive Interior

Inside, this delightful little home is every bit as attractive as it is outside. The good sized entry hall contains a large coat closet in its back wall. An open archway in the left wall leads to the 17'6"x13'4" living room.

Most appealing features of the spacious living room are the lovely picture window in the front wall, and the handsome fireplace centered in the left wall. Bookshelves could easily be installed along the unbroken right wall.

Since there is no dining room proper in "The Poultnery," the living room must do double duty. Place your dining room set near to the back wall where it will be most accessible from the kitchen. If you desire, you can have a china closet built into the left back corner of the room; this will make a convenient storage place for your best china and glassware.

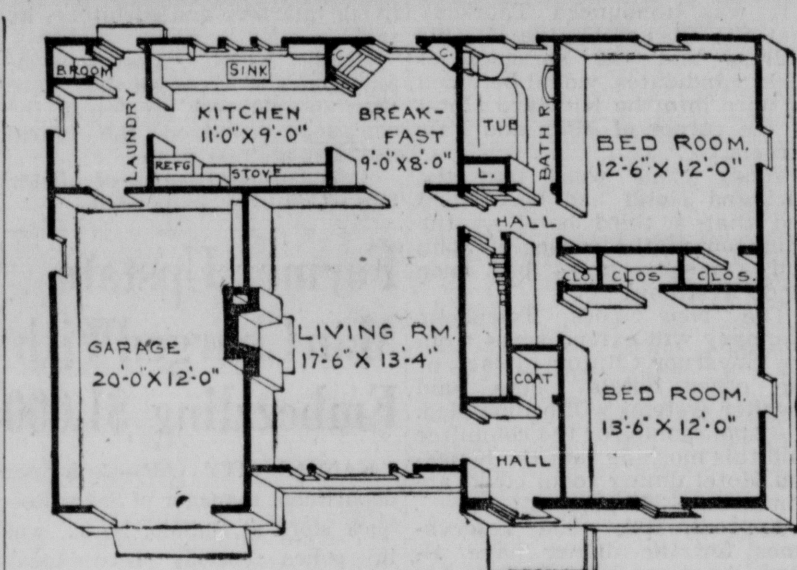

Measuring 9'x8', the breakfast nook is a room by itself; is large enough to serve as the family eating area all day through. Thus, you can save your dining area for more formal occasions. One large window in the back wall brings plenty of light and air into the pleasant breakfast nook. Cabinets in both back corners provide ample storage area for your regular china. Drawers can be built under the cabinet proper to provide extra storage.

space for fresh table linen, etc. Opening directly off the breakfast nook, the kitchen is a work center and is planned as such.

The housewife is certain to like the position selected for the modern sink; right under the double windows in the back kitchen wall. Working counters, cupboards and cabinets extend along the back to the left and right walls.

More working counters, the stove and the refrigerator occupy the front wall of the 11'x9' kitchen. In the left wall, the door leads to the first floor laundry. Receiving adequate light and ventilation through one window in the wall, the laundry has doors leading to both the back yard and the garage.

There's plenty of regular, and overhead storage space in the 20' by 12' garage. One window, in the left wall, provides ample light and ventilation for this one car garage.

Both bedrooms are located at the right end of "The Poultnery" and, along with the all-modern bath, are connected with the living section of the house by a central hallway. Opening off this hallway, just to the left of the living room door, is a good sized linen closet. Stairs to the full cement basement, lead down from this hall just across from the linen closet.

In the good sized bathroom, which is lighted and ventilated by one window in its back wall, there is room for both a tub and a shower.

Measuring 12'6"x12', the back bedroom reaps the benefits of cross ventilation from one window in the right wall and another in the back wall. The closet in the front wall is large enough to hold the clothing of two people if this bedroom is shared.

If you want a safe storage spot for your precious woolen blankets and your family's fine woolsens—a place where they'll be protected from the ravages of moths during the warm weather—convert that closet opening on the connecting hallway between the two bedrooms into a cedar closet.

Designed to serve as a master bedroom, the front bedroom is 13'6"x12'. This room, too, enjoys the benefits of cross ventilation; it has one window in the right wall and another in the front wall. There is a spacious closet in the back wall.

In the basement of "The Poultnery" the only required installation is the heating plant.

Applications also will be accepted up to November 17, 1958 for NYS Civil Service Professional Career Tests and Public Administration Internships. The examinations for these titles are scheduled for December 13, 1958.

Voting — Military ballots for the forthcoming November elections must be mailed in time to reach Albany, N. Y. on or before October 23, 1958. Application forms for military ballots are available from the voting officer at armed forces installations; The Division for Servicemen's Voting, Secretary of State, Albany 1, New York; the Board of Elections of the home county of a serviceman and his family; and this office. Also eligible for military ballot are a spouse, parent or child of a serviceman who are with him at his place of military duty. They may apply for military ballots in the same way as a serviceman.

Bonus — October 31, 1958 is the final date to apply for the Rhode Island state Korean veteran bonus. The rate of bonus is $200 for any active duty time served between June 25, 1950 and July 27, 1953. There is also a residency requirement of six months immediately before entering into active service. Application forms are available from the Korean Veterans' Bonus Board, 1051 North Main Street, Providence 4, Rhode Island.

New Laws — Certain peacetime veterans are now eligible for unemployment compensation under a new law which goes into operation October 28, 1958. Benefits will be paid by the states under the provision of the state unemployment compensation insurance laws. Maximum weekly benefits range from $26 to $45 and extend to the periods from 16 to 30 weeks during the benefit year. The legislation extends peacetime protection to veterans who began their active military or naval service on or after February 1, 1955. To be eligible, a peacetime serviceman must have had 90 days or more of continuous active service or less than 90 days if he was discharged because of service-incurred disabilities or injuries. Discharges or releases from active service must be under honorable conditions. Application for unemployment compensation may be made at the nearest local state employment office.

Check Thickness Of Paint Chip

If you're going to repaint the outside of your house, check the thickness of a paint chip from previous paintings. Excessive thickness causes chemical changes in under layers of paint. The result may be blistering or cracking, and then the new paint is likely to flake off.

Should the chip of paint be twice as thick as, say, the edge of a dollar bill, the old paint coating may have to be removed before repainting. If it is four times as thick, the old paint should certainly be removed.

New Use for Old Picture Frames

Old picture frames made into wall shadow-boxes to display collector's items are now a vogue with a growing following. These displays cover a wide range of items from hand-painted porcelain mugs to bright-colored rocks.

The frame's wood should be sanded down to the clean grain and covered with a thinned coat of fresh, white shellac. The shellac coat dries quickly and should be followed by another.

As a back base for the frame, plywood is often used. To display the items, suitable shelves are fitted. The plywood and shelves are protected by thinned coats of pure, white shellac.

A unique coffee table can also be made from a large enough frame. With the addition of a leg at each corner, a base and a glass top, the frame becomes a horizontal housing for the collection. Again, the wood should be properly sanded and coated with shellac. If the frame is not deep enough to allow the item to be placed under the glass, the base can be recessed to gain the necessary height.

Wash Lawn Chair Canvases With Soapsuds

The canvas on "sling" deck and lawn chairs can be washed with hot soapsuds to remove stains and restore bright colors. After the canvas has been well rinsed with clean water, put it right back on the metal or wood frame while it is still wet so that it may shape itself properly, and then let it dry in the sun. Wipe off the metal or wood frame with a damp cloth.

Rock Wool

Although rock wool insulation is installed to make the home more comfortable and reduce heating and cooling costs, homeowners are also receiving two additional bonuses, insulation specialists report. Such insulation resists fire and retards the formation of dirt shadows on ceilings and walls.

Angled Nails Firmer

Nails driven in at any angle will have greater holding power. When more than one nail is used in a line, they should be slanted in opposite directions.

Wash Paint Away

from wood, metal surfaces. Use new Strypeeze Special water-soluble paint remover with the Good Housekeeping Seal! At paint and hardware stores.

Furniture Scratches

Deep furniture scratches require filling. First remove loose splinters. Then work stain into the crack with a fine brush. Stain and dye darken with time so use a stain slightly lighter than surrounding wood. With a fine brush fill the scratch with white shellac. Don't allow shellac to overlap edges of scratch.

Dumbwaiter Helps

If you entertain in your basement recreation room frequently, you might consider rigging up a small dumbwaiter to run between the playroom and your kitchen.

Mother of Six Charged in Fatal Stabbing of Mate

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Dorothy Marks, a 27-year-old mother of six, has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of her husband. She told police she stabbed him when he beat her on the head with a bottle. Her husband Joseph, 30, was stabbed with a pocket knife early Friday at a waterfront housing project where the Negro couple lived. Mrs. Marks said he had been drinking heavily and had not worked in 18 months. At her arraignment in City Court Friday, she pleaded innocent and was ordered held in $10,000 bail. The six Marks children, ranging in age from nine months to 10 years, are in the custody of an aid society.

'Peace' on Lips of Pope More Than Any Other Word

By FRANK BRUTTO
VATICAN CITY (AP) — The word "peace" more than any other was on the lips of Pius XII. His concern with it had preceded his elevation to the papacy. In 1917, when he was only 42, Pope Benedict XV named him papal nuncio to Bavaria and instructed him to appeal to the Kaiser to end World War I.

Almost the first public words that Pius XII expressed—the day after his election March 2, 1939—were in behalf of peace, that "sublime gift from Heaven."

Appeals to Rulers
A few months later with the world again on the brink of war, he appealed to people and rulers of the world.

"Nothing is lost with peace; all may be lost with war," he warned.

When war came, eight days after his broadcast, Pius XII turned his attention to alleviating its suffering as much as possible.

At war's end, recalling the havoc he had witnessed in Germany in 1918 he centered his efforts toward the establishment of "just and true peace."

But the end of World War II brought no peace to Pius XII or the church he headed.

Brought Bitter Attacks
It brought, instead, a bitter, expanding attack of atheistic communism which produced new catacombs in the East. The Pope referred to "the church of silence that points to the fresh graves of her martyrs, the chains of her confessors." The end of the war left more than 50 million Roman Catholics under Communist control.

From Yugoslavia to China and Korea, fierce Communist attacks were to result in a few years in slaying, jailing or banishment of priests and nuns, bishops, archbishops and even cardinals.

The church's struggle for existence in a large area of the world was the constant, deep sorrow of Pius XII. Correlated with it was his anxiety lest world war on atomic scale, should break out once more. All his Christmas messages and countless other speeches hammered on the need for peace.

Warned of New War
He described atomic weapons as "murderous and inhuman."

"Another world war," he said, recalling Genesis, "would be so destructive as to make the earth void and empty, a desolate chaos, like to a desert over which the sun is not rising but setting."

A dove bearing an olive branch and perched above stormy waters was the emblem on Eugenio Pacelli's papal seal.

But when the "unwearied advocate" for peace, as he had called himself, at last closed his eyes in rest, the dove of peace had not yet reached that true and just haven for which Pius XII had spoken, fought and prayed.

Legislation Big Concern of CC, Committees Busy

Increased interest in legislation of all kinds is being taken by the three legislative committees of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, namely national, state and local.

The National Legislative Affairs Committee has been meeting monthly all year and will continue to do so and will meet more often, if necessary, while Congress is in session. Arthur W. Patterson is chairman of this committee.

The State Legislative Affairs Committee for 1958-59 had its first organization meeting earlier this week under the chairmanship of John Posen. The first action was a decision to publicize the content of the Constitutional Amendments and propositions which appear on the November ballot. This will be done next week without comment or recommendations, but with the suggestion that people study them and express their opinions at the polls on election day.

The State Legislative Affairs Committee will also assign types of legislation to members of the committee for study. Each member of the committee will become a specialist in one or two particular fields.

The City and County Legislative Affairs Committee is headed by Hugh R. Elwyn and considers local ordinances, regulations and county legislation.

The legislative committees of the Chamber of Commerce study or suggest legislation and recommend action to the board of directors.

Workers Cut, Week Shortened at Lockport

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Workers have been laid off and the work week has been shortened at the General Motors installation here, because most other GM plants are still on strike.

The strike has made it impossible for the Harrison Radiator Division to deliver its products, a spokesman announced Friday. As a result, he said, 1,670 workers were laid off and the work week was cut from five to four days.

Harrison Radiator normally employs 4,000.

The United Auto Workers strike at Harrison ended last Monday, but more than 100 GM plants across the nation are still idle as negotiators seek to settle local grievances.

The agreements are to supplement the national contract reached in Detroit last week.

Matter of FACT

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, gave the population as 3,929,214, little more than the present population of Chicago. Included in the total were about 500,000 Negro slaves, who were not allowed any part in government; nor were all white men allowed to vote, since every state still required voters to pay taxes or own property.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

C. Keyser of 100 Grand Street, and exacting man and a fine man to work for." I asked if among some thousands of people they had as passengers on one trip if they ever had trouble with anyone. He said "Everybody behaved themselves." I remember there was an atmosphere on the Mary Powell that deflated the respect from all the passengers. Even children did not feel they could scream, yell, run and shout and throw a tantrum. The parents were ashamed for the least rise in voice and would silence them.

Keyser also told me that no matter what the work on the Mary Powell, even to the deckhand whose work maybe somewhat around the engine where he could perhaps get dirty, still they had to start the day with a clean shave, clean clothes and shoes shined, and they seemed to stay that way through the trip. Of course the officers in uniform looked like on a Navy ship waiting for some gold braid making an inspection.

Later Mr. Keyser worked for Graham Rose at a private resort, we later knew as Greenkill Park. There Captain Elting Anderson of the Mary Powell had two of the largest rooms and service until the day he died. Mr. Keyser stayed on even when prize-fighter Schmelling was there later and remembered when President Roosevelt came over from Hyde Park and shook hands with him. He worked all his life among fine people and met many important people from around the globe.

We talked about the Robert Fulton which he understood was done away with. They took the engine out and made sleeping quarters for corn pickers. The famous Hendrick Hudson, the largest side-wheeler was sent to Philadelphia and junked and so it goes. He thinks my idea of having a Marine Museum at Kingston Park harbor a fine one as he said thousands of people now seem to take to these Museums and no doubt it would bring ever so many people to Kingston and the Point. Of course all the side-wheelers are gone but not forgotten.

I spoke to two little boys right after he left and they did not have the slightest idea what a side-wheeler was. I guess they thought it was some kind of a bike or motorcycle and did not believe me when I told them it was a boat. They have never been on one of those boats nor have they seen one and they live right in our Hudson Valley. No doubt they did not even go down to see the Dayliner, the Peter Stuyvesant. The more I talked about the "swish" the sidewheeler made in the water, the more puzzled they were.

BRIDGE Hand Is Bad for Choosers

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Here is one of the better hands from the recent Summer Nationals.

Frank Weisbach of Cincinnati, who sat South, abandoned the idea of a grand slam when his partner showed only three kings in response to the Blackwood five no-trump.

The four of hearts was opened. How would you play the hand? You could play the queen of hearts from dummy. Should it hold, your troubles would be over, but should it lose you could still fall back on the diamond finesse.

Frank decided that West would not have led from a king and he saw a sure thing play for the hand provided East would hold the king of hearts.

He played low from dummy and won the trick with his ace. Then he drew trumps, cashed the ace and king of clubs and ruffed a club. Next he played the ace of diamonds just in case the queen of hearts from dummy and East was in the lead with the king.

East was faced with a Hobson's choice. He could lead a heart and let Frank discard a diamond from his own hand and ruff in dummy or he could lead

Candidate Speaks At Liberal Party Rally Thursday

Edward Goodell, Liberal Party candidate for attorney-general, addressed a meeting Thursday night of Liberal Party enrollees, party workers and friends at 277 Fair Street. More than 75 persons heard the candidate of the Liberal Party exhort his listeners to cast their vote "against machine politics."

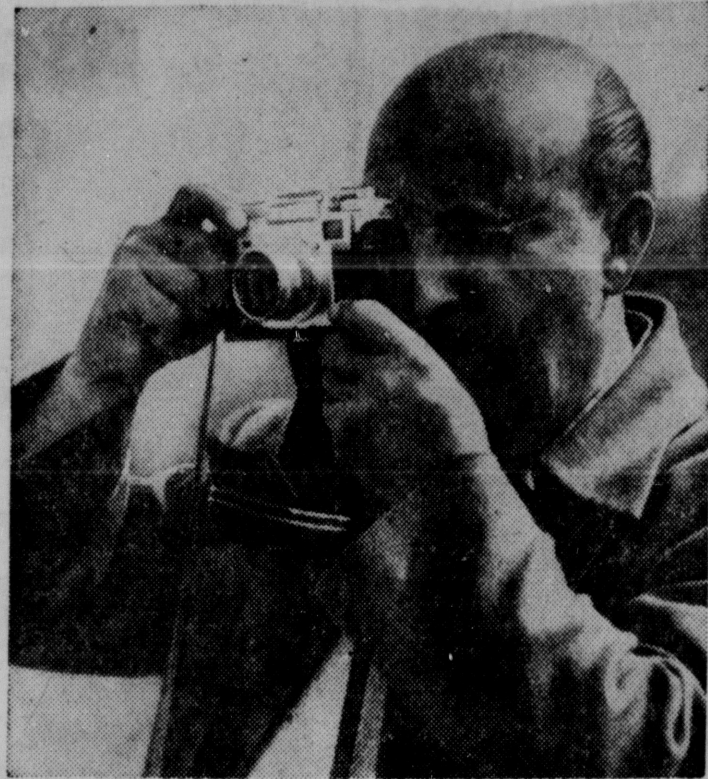

"I urged you to vote Liberal Party, not merely as a negative gesture, but to encourage a new and refreshing independent political forces in the state. You will at the same time elect first rate public officials," Goodell, said.

Others addressing the meeting were Frank Martocci, former city judge, gave his analysis of the current political scene. Among other things, he pointed out that the policy of the Liberal Party was to endorse judicial candidates when their record on the bench has been a good one and since Judge Roscoe V. Elsworth, who is running for re-election, had an excellent record of 14 years as a supreme court justice, the Liberal Party believed that he should be endorsed.

Christopher Morris, Democratic-Liberal Party candidate for Congress, made a few brief remarks about the Democratic-Liberal upsurge. "Vote for men who have a program to fill your needs," he said.

Irving Astrow, Liberal candidate for Congress from the 28th Congressional District, analyzed the voting record of the incumbents. This meeting was part of a scheduled tour featuring Goodell in this area. Wednesday night he spoke in Poughkeepsie. He visited Orange County for some handshaking and made a final speech in Newburgh on Friday. John Riccardi, manager of Local 259, ILGWU, presided.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new TV season has brought forth-ump-teen Westerns and one Southern, sub, name of Yancy Derringer.

This Derringer is a cool character of post-bellum New Orleans who carries three firing arms bearing his own name. Except for a mustache and a vaguely larcenous nature, you might take him for another TV idol named the Range Rider. Or he might pass for Jock Mahoney, star of Universal-International movies.

This Most Promising
All are the same guy, a towering, muscular ex-stunt man who is now embarking on his fourth career in films. And this one seems to be the most promising to date.

Jock graduated from falling off cliffs and horses to make 78 Range Rider half-hours. Then he did 11 features for U-I. "I returned from Germany after doing a small but meaty part in 'A Time to Love and a Time to Die' and found out that the bottom had dropped out of the studio," he said. Jobless Claims Down
NEW YORK (AP)—Claims for unemployment insurance in New York State dropped last week by 25,000. Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin reported Friday.

The decline, however, was attributed largely to exhaustion of state and federal benefits by 22,500 persons, Lubin said.

He said there were 47,500 new claims, an increase of 3,000 over the previous week. Contributing to the increase were lay-offs among aircraft workers in Buffalo, shoe workers in Binghamton, and auto and auto parts workers in a number of cities.

Central Expects To Operate on Schedule Today

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Crews of the New York Central Railroad worked through the night to open the road's main line, blocked by the mangled wreckage of a freight train that jumped the tracks. One track was cleared and the railroad hoped to have its schedule operating normally later today.

29 Leave Track
Twenty-nine of the train's 109 cars were derailed Friday as the train headed at an estimated 60 miles per hour toward New York from Chicago.

It carried five crewmen. None was injured.

A journal box — "hot box" — burned out on the axle of the 62nd car, causing it to flip off the track. The 28 cars behind it also were torn from the tracks. They telescoped into a mass of twisted metal.

Work crews immediately began clearing away the wreckage, which forced cancellation or curtailment in the schedules of a number of through trains.

Chiefly affected were long-distance operations.

Long Distance Hurt
An emergency rerouting system was arranged to make connections between New York City and Albany.

Tracks of the Harlem Division, which is not equipped for high-speed operations, were used as far as Chatham, N. Y., about 140 miles from New York City. Other tracks link Chatham and Albany.

A bus shuttle service carried some of the passengers around the wreckage.

Births
The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Oct. 2—Kari Kazuko to Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Renes, RD 1, Box 458, Town of Ulster.

Oct. 3—Heidi Beth to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Roger Gilpin, Box 173, Lake Katrine.

Oct. 4—Jo Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas Benicase, Boiceville, Town of Ulster.

Oct. 5—Matthew M. to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick George Supplies, 31 Washington Avenue, and Tina Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lester Crawford, 7 Valley Street.

Oct. 6—Deborah Jean to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Robert Cease, 58 Harder Road, Woodstock, and Mary Kathryn to Mr. and Mrs. John Francis McCloskey, 46 Mill Park Road, New Paltz.

Oct. 7—Mary Beth to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis Scriber, 12 South Street, Rosendale, and John David to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald James Brennan RD 4, Box 4, Barclay Heights, Saugerties.

Correction
An advertisement which appeared in The Freeman recently for the Blue Stone Inn, formerly Wickes's Villa of Old Route 28, West Hurley, inadvertently listed an incorrect telephone number. The telephone number should read, Dial FE 1-4967.

Urgently Need Donors for VFW Blood Bank Draw

The urgent need for fulfillment of all VFW Community Blood Bank pledges for the drawing scheduled Thursday evening at VFW Hall, Livingston Street was stressed at a meeting of the Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW held this week at the post home.

Mrs. Hazel Drewes, temporary blood bank chairman announced that the local bank's supply is depleted and in debt to the Kingston Laboratory.

Mrs. Drewes, speaking for Miss Marie M. McCutcheon, chairman who was on vacation, said that new donors will probably not be needed at this drawing if all who pledged blood at the Saugerties Assemblage display of the VFW, attend the drawing. Nearly 60 pledged their appearance at the next drawing. As the need is urgent a second drawing has been scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 20, she said.

Donors wishing to pledge blood may register by calling Miss McCutcheon at West Camp.

Cub Pack 130 had its charter renewed at the meeting of the auxiliary insuring the younger boys another year of activities under the guidance of Cubmaster Harry Slobodian.

Slobodian addressed the auxiliary on its responsibility as sponsor of the pack. He said the boys must feel they are needed in the community by their active participation in any project undertaken by the auxiliary in which their assistance might be sought.

"The boys don't realize who their sponsors are," Slobodian said. "I want you to feel free to call on us at any time so that the boys can have an activity of their own. We are trying to keep them as busy as possible in the community."

Slobodian went on to explain the new revamping of the pack. He stressed the fact that the efforts of the leaders have been wasted and the cubs are losing interest, in part due to the lack of home enthusiasm. This year's program, as outlined by the cubmaster, will try to foster a broader outlook at scouting and to make them better citizens. Christmas caroling, charity basket giving and Arbor Day celebrations are a few of the intended projects.

Two new members were ceremoniously initiated into the auxiliary, Miss Elizabeth Mower and Mrs. Margaret Tynan joined the group.

The Main Street School was voted to be the recipient of 12 new flags as a joint donation from the post and auxiliary.

Hospital Chairman Mrs. Ruth Prendegast expressed her thanks to those who helped prepare the 78 baskets distributed to Castle Point Hospital on VFW Day last Sunday, and to the 24 who made the trip to distribute the baskets and cigarettes, and entertain the vets. A total of $395 in value of goods and services was spent during September. Next treat for the hospitalized men is a Halloween party on October 31. Mrs. Prendegast was pleased to display her 500 hour pin awarded her on VFW Day in recognition of her work. "Now I can aim for the 1,000 hour pin!" she said.

In answer to an appeal for more help on the Camp Fire Girls Fund drive, Mrs. Francis Bosco and Mrs. Marie Sheehan volunteered their services.

Members were reminded that names and addresses of the boys in service (those related to a post or auxiliary member), should be made known to Rehabilitation Chairman Mrs. Janice Dengler, in preparation for sending Christmas gifts. Anyone knowing of any sick member should contact the chairman.

Award winner of the evening was Mrs. Alice Hallion.

The first Saturday in December was set as the date for a bus ride to New York City, leaving at 7 a. m., and returning at 10 p. m. Reservations must be made in advance by contacting Mrs. Marie Sheehan.

Mrs. Janice Dengler is the license book chairman for the annual auxiliary activity.

Refreshments followed the business agenda. Next meeting will take place Wednesday, Nov. 12.

UAW Locals Keep Up Strike Action 110 GM Plants

By The Associated Press

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers locals continued strike action against 110 General Motors plants across the country today with a renewed pledge of international union support.

UAW President Walter Reuther Friday told 212 members of the union's National GM Council that local strike action would be supported by the international union, re-affirming a pledge made after the national contract signing with GM last week.

The GM Council is meeting here to approve the national contract. Local strikes have kept all but some 56,500 of GM's 275,000 UAW employees idle and have cut into 1959 model production.

Wildcat strikes Friday continued to curtail 1959 model production at Chrysler despite national contracts with the UAW covering all but some 8,000 salaried employees.

Chrysler said 1,400 workers went out at its Detroit stamping plant. It was the only one of the Big Three to report new local disputes.

16,000 Chrysler Idle
In all Chrysler reported 16,000 idle in six plants as the result of wildcat strikes and parts shortages incurred from such strikes. American Motor Corp. and the UAW were bargaining in Detroit for a new contract covering 18,000

AMC workers. Negotiators took up local issues first leaving national matters until later.

The old UAW-AMC contract expired June 15. The company and union have agreed on a day-to-day extension of the old contract. However, the UAW has served notice of contract cancellation on AMC effective next Friday.

More Jobs, Fat Paychecks Vital To Fall Upturn

By WALTER BREEDER JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — More jobs and fatter paychecks for factory workers, and a faster rate of spending in the nation's retail stores, put new zing this week in the economy's fall upturn.

Reporting a "significant improvement" in the job situation, the government announced that the number of jobless around the country dropped by 588,000 last month.

Likely to Continue

The decline — unusually large even for September — forced total unemployment down to 4,111,000. That's a new low for the year. It was a foregone conclusion that the job picture would continue to improve in October.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. was reported ready to re-start four or five more open-hearth steelmaking furnaces in the Buffalo, N.Y., area. Big United States Steel Corp. stepped up its production pace in the Pittsburgh district. Steel operations in the hard-hit Youngstown, Ohio, district were slated for one of the sharpest week-to-week gains of the year.

A rising trend in appliance sales was reported by Norge, Westinghouse, Frigidaire and Kelvinator.

Things were looking up for aluminum workers. Reynolds Metals Co. said it will return its aluminum reduction plant at Troutdale, Ore., to full capacity operations in three weeks. Alcoa set a faster production pace for its plants at Massena, N. Y., and Point Comfort, Tex.

Cotton textiles provided one of the few soft spots. Cutbacks were ordered right and left. Some mills will shut down completely for the weeks that include Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

With the job picture in other industries getting brighter by the hour, a new upsurge in consumer confidence was evident from Dallas to Detroit.

Department stores across the nation scored a seven per cent sales gain over the like 1957 week.

Stock Averages Soar

Stock averages crashed through the roof again this week. A burst of buying on Friday sent the market to a new record high with an impact that left seasoned observers holding onto their hats. The day's business on the New York Stock Exchange totaled a whopping 4,610,000 shares — the heaviest volume this year.

For the week, total of 19,104,940 shares were traded, compared to 19,227,870 shares in the previous week and 15,575,710 shares in the corresponding week last year.

Bond Sales Up

Bond sales totaled $30,098,000 this week compared to $29,839,000 for the previous week and $26,957,900 in the same 1957 week.

Wall Street evidently had scanned the latest business reports and found them good — particularly the rising production curve and price hikes for such commodities as lead, zinc and copper.

Briefly over the business scene: A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold this week for $100,000 — the highest price in more than two years. Studebaker-Packard said dealer orders received so far for its new 1959 economy car, the Lark, amount to half the company's entire output of 1958 models. Maybe you haven't noticed, but the auto industry is spending six million dollars a year trying to find out what you like, and what you don't like, about its product. With Columbus Day at hand, Woolens and Worsted of America Inc. points out that the textile industry owes a rising vote of thanks to the distinguished navigator. It was Christopher Columbus who brought the first wool-bearing sheep to the new world in 1493.

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Nelson M. Percy, 82, internationally known surgeon and developer of the Percy system of whole blood transfusion, died Friday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rear Adm. Lamar Richard Leahy (Ret.), 78, naval veteran whose career included service in both world wars, died Friday.

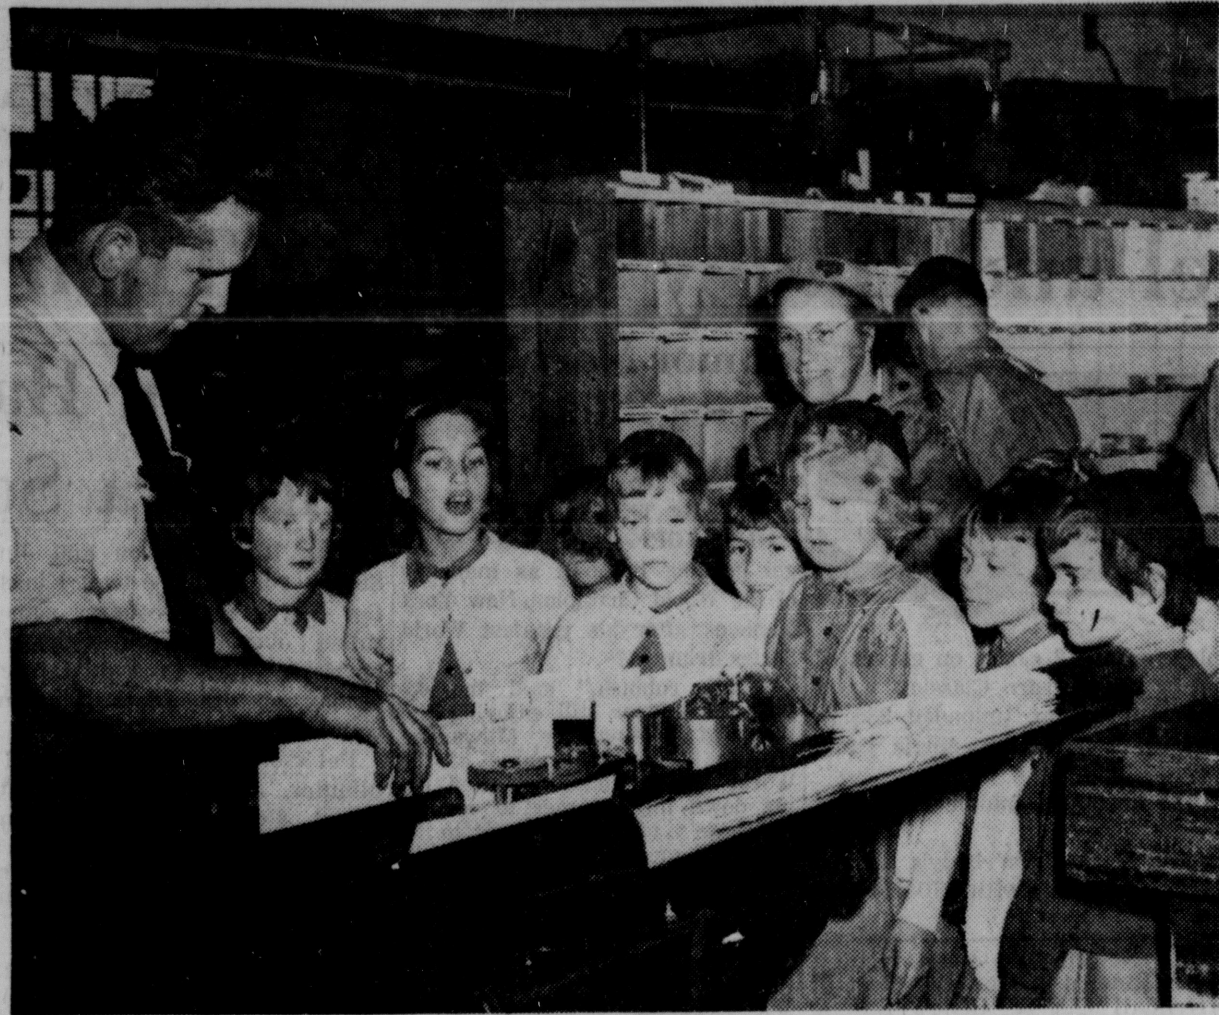

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP)—Walter F. McCanless, 70, one-time textile tycoon, live-oak operator and financial promoter who reportedly built up and lost several fortunes, died Thursday.

Matter of FACT

It took Noah Webster 20 years to prepare his first dictionary of the English language. For 10 of those years, Webster studied English and its connection with other languages. Another year was spent in Europe before the dictionary was completed in 1827. The dictionary, first published in 1828, contained 12,000 words and 40,000 definitions that had never appeared in any similar work before.

Ontario Mayor Lauds Visit of Local Kiwanians

A recent visit of members of the local Kiwanis Club to the Kiwanis Club of Kingston, Ontario, Canada, and a letter of appreciation published in the Canadian newspaper by Jacobus Feye of 240 Clinton Avenue, brought a surprise response to the local Kiwanian.

Frank P. Boyce, mayor of Kingston, Canada, directed a personal letter to Feye, inclosing the clipping from the Canadian newspaper, thanking Feye for his kind remarks, and expressing Mayor Boyce's pleasure concerning his meeting with the local Kiwanians.

"In my opinion," said Mayor Boyce, "it is a very wonderful thing to have such great fellowship between the people of two countries and to think that we can visit as we desire without any interference from either government. The visit of your members and their wives was an inspiration and great delight to me as I feel sure it was to all members of the local (Canadian) Kiwanis Club."

Each year members of the Kiwanis Clubs of the two Kingdoms visit each other—one year the local group journeys to Canada while the next year the Canadians return the visit. This past year about 25 members of the local club visited Canada.

At the same time, Eisenhower accepted an invitation from the apostolic delegation to attend a Pontifical Requiem Mass for the late pontiff next Tuesday at St. Matthews Cathedral here.

Named with Dulles to represent the United States at the Rome rites were Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy, and Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Negro Inmate Is Stabbed to Death At Jersey Prison

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A Negro inmate was stabbed to death at State Prison Friday night in what Warden George Goodman termed a riot stemming from racial antagonism.

The victim was Willard Jones, 28, of Camden, who was stabbed by a needle-sharp bedspring that had been honed on a rock.

The Mercer County prosecutor's office was investigating.

A white prisoner, George Stolz, 28, of Glendale, N.Y., was shot in the leg by a guard when he tried to climb over a fence from the rioting maximum security section to the main yard.

Twelve other inmates were injured, three of them detained at the prison hospital. The fight broke out among a group of 15 maximum security inmates who were milling about their fenced-in section of the prison yard.

"Apparently the fight started from racial antagonism," Goodman said. Six or eight guards wielded night sticks among the struggling convicts and restored order.

The rioters were part of a group of 40 who have no contact with other inmates. "They're the unruly ones," Goodman said.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The paramount question arising from the 1958 World Series has to be: "Does Mr. Burdette still think the Yankees would finish no better than fourth in the National League?"

Burdette, a magnificent World Series performer in 1957, has to emerge as the Alibi Ike of 1958. If Jittery Lew was accurately quoted, then the Yankees have yet to make a single baserun off a "good" pitch thrown by any Milwaukee pitcher.

One of the more innocuous by products of a World Series is the dressing room interview. Often major leaguers say things in a fit of anger they wish they could forget the next day. But Burdette through his ghosted articles and in clubhouse interviews persisted in demeaning the Yankees and trying to create the impression that the American League was just a notch higher than the Little League. There was never any doubt that Burdette was extremely contemptuous of the Yankee myth of invincibility and for a couple of games it appeared to be just that.

We couldn't begin to calculate the number of gasps that were used in the City of Brotherly Suds Thursday night, but the Series pointed up the fact the Braves are not the overpowering team their press agents and National League partisans would have you believe. Once Spahn and Burdette lost that gift edge, they were exposed as a slow moving squad, susceptible to fielding bobbles in clutch games and almost devoid of extra base power.

National League partisans who find comfort in the popular belief that the American League is deteriorating into a minor league had better check the record books. If the Milwaukee Braves of the last four games of the World Series are so overpowering then, perhaps, a wholesale re-evaluation of the National League might be in order.

Facts and Filberts:

Despite Curt Gowdy's relentless campaign to deify Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, a guy by the name of Bob Turley was some shucks of a pitcher, too. And when the World Series historians get around to evaluating the 1957 pitching performances, Turley is the inevitable choice for No. 1. . . . No World Series television audience ever saw swifter pitches than the thunderbolts Ryno Duren unleashed in his first inning at Milwaukee. . . . Turley worked four times in five days and his curve ball at Yankee Stadium would have made Johnny Murphy and Johnny Morrison blink with envy. . . . If Hank Bauer isn't the greatest .250 hitter in World Series history, then you name him. . . . Rival National League benches won't make Burdette forget his remarks about the National League next year, but he'll probably win 20 games in that "tough" league.

Of Men and Mice:

Gil McDougald and Hank Bauer were the soundest Yankee hitters in the Series. . . . Tony Kubek the most pitiful. McDougald was in charge at the plate, magnificent in the field. Yogi Berra avoided a strikeout through the seven games and was hitting the ball sharply the last three games. You have to write off Eddie Matthews as one of the real busts of the Series. . . . Mickey Mantle was another big disappointment. Except for two home runs in Milwaukee and that triple in Yankee Stadium, the Switcher was hardly an impressive figure at the plate. The Yankees curbed Hank Aaron's power and that was a big factor. Elston Howard, restoring confidence in the Yankees' defense and solid at the plate, emerged with strong credentials for the 1959 season and a substantial pay raise. . . . Warren Spahn was gracious in his tributes to Yankees. He praised McDougald and Bauer as great competitors and the record book sustains him. Spahn had that touch of class in defeat that somehow Burdette couldn't summon. . . . Art Dittmar will never receive proper credits for his brilliant relief stint in the sixth game and for seven innings Saturday Larsen was a heroic figure. . . . Yankees had relief pitching depth and the Braves didn't unless Fred Haney was saving it for something bigger.

The Ghosts Go West:

Disconcerting as the long string of Yankee triumphs may be to National League rooters, we should feel grateful they belong to our neck of the woods. The migration of major sports is westward and we should be thankful the Yankees remain only 90 miles away. We sympathize with the Giant and Dodger rooters, but it must be a painful chore to root for a team 2500 miles away and one you never get a chance to see. And it's nice to know the Yankees are around to keep the National League honest.

Beecham Loss

CHICAGO (AP)—Battling Bobby

Boyd, who intends to remain fighting as long as his body holds up, got back into the winners circle Friday night by defeating Jimmy Beecham of Miami.

Boyd, a Chicagoan, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Beecham who had beaten Boyd in a previous meeting at Miami.

The victory put Boyd back in the good graces of Manager Bernie Glickman who had said he would have retired the 24-year-old middleweight if he lost to Beecham again.

Boyd scored well in the early rounds against Beecham who thought the fight should have been a draw.

"I couldn't get unraveled in the early rounds," said Beecham. "He won the first half of the fight, I won the second half."

Clock Stops Sawyers on 2 In First Half

Saugerties High ground out impressive yardage, flashed a good passing game and defended like demons, but when its Friday night game with Liberty High reached its conclusion the scoreboard showed only a string of zeroes.

The 0-0 tie doesn't begin to tell the story of the Sawyer's domination of the game in every department except scoring.

Coach Bill Straub's charges penetrated to the Liberty 2 just before the half ended and were pounding inside the Liberty 10 when the game ended.

In between they marched up and down the field but were stymied by a series of penalties for offside and backfield in motion.

They racked up 10 first downs to Liberty's 4 and had a net rushing advantage of 150 yards to 66 yards and completed 6 of 17 passes for 104 yards. The Redskins failed to complete a pass in seven tries.

Best offensive maneuver of the night was a 25-yard pass and run play from Don Mormile to Bob Whitaker.

Saugerties meets Wappingers Falls in a DCSL contest next Saturday at Cantine Field.

Savel-Farina at WCC

The Northeastern New York PGA's top professionals including Armand Farina and Big Steve Savel are scheduled to compete in Sunday's annual Woodstock Country Club Pro-Member tournament.

Farina and Savel recently completed successive weekend sweeps in the Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck member-pro tournaments.

Farina, the doughty Schenectady pro who usually rips apart the Woodstock layout, posted a 4-under-par 66 at Twaalfskill to share the first four places.

Savel matched Wiltwyck's tremendous challenge under adverse weather conditions and also shared four first places.

Gerlak in Field

Joining these crack veterans are such familiar names as Alex Gerlak of Twaalfskill; Jim and Guy Farina, Alex Sinclair, the Mohawk smoothie; Bill Gressick of Catskill; Jack Maxwell of Stamford and Frank Stuhler of the Antlers in Amsterdam.

Also slated to compete are John Gaudes of Van Schaick, the Northeastern secretary; Jim Murray, Scotty Robertson of Ontario, Ray Smith of Palenville, Eddie Brown of Columbia Country Club and, of course, J. Carson Hutchins, the home pro. Woodstock Country Club also stages its annual President's Dinner tonight. Prizes for the season will be awarded and Anthony J. de Liso assumes office for his eighth term as club president.

Are Stengel and Haney Quitting Their Posts???

Frank Turck upended the maples for a 612 series on games of 202, 216, 194 in last night's session of the Ferraro Classic.

Rumor Mart Has Series Pilots Leaving Clubs

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel quitting baseball as manager of the World Champion New York Yankees after his greatest World Series triumph?

"Plain rubbish," said the 68-year-old skipper still enjoying the thrill of beating the Milwaukee Braves in the final game of the World Series Thursday after being down three games to one.

"There's too much work to be done for me to think about quitting," Casey added.

Stengel's two-year contract expiring this year and talk of his quitting was revived Friday by a story in the New York Post that Stengel and General Manager George Weiss are feuding.

Cannon Insists

"Unless the breach is healed, according to people close to the situation, there is a 50-50 chance that Stengel will never put on a Yankee uniform again," wrote Jimmy Cannon, the Post's sports columnist.

Retorted Weiss: "This is a barefaced lie and you can make it as strong as you like. There is absolutely no semblance of a feud between us."

"Certainly we haven't got around to discussing a new contract, but that in itself is nothing new. We seldom in the past have ever been in a hurry to draw a new one when the old one expires. Then we sit down to talk terms and that's that. I expect him to be with us again. He has been a great manager."

The club has called a press conference for Tuesday. Stengel said he would be present to discuss plans for the 1959 season.

Tibbets to Succeed

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rumors that sprouted from the debris of the Milwaukee Braves World Series defeat have three players perched on the trading block and Manager Fred Haney ready to resign.

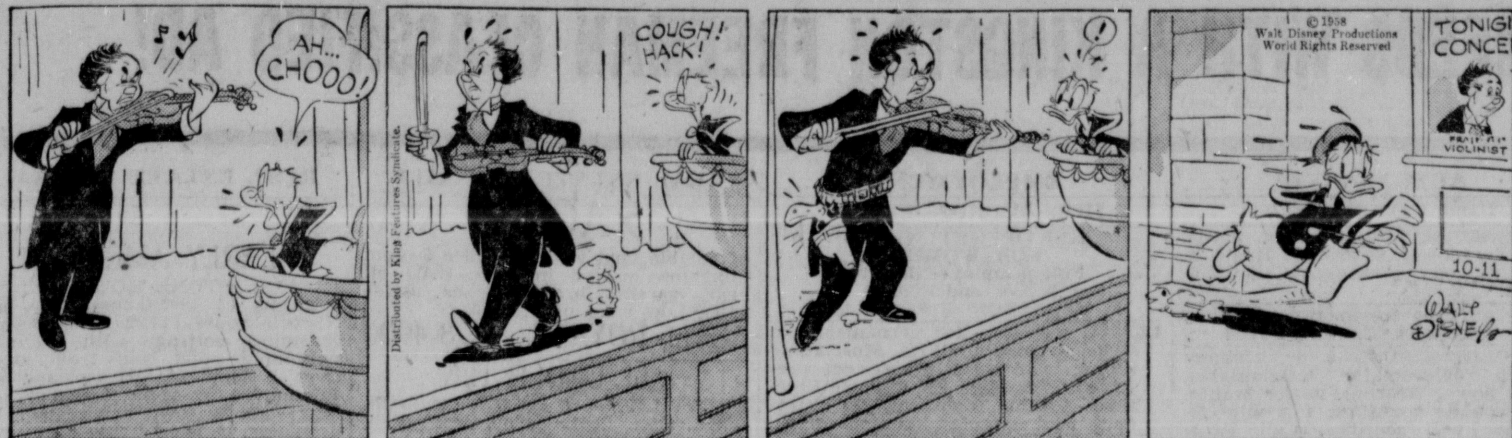

The marked men are shortstop Johnny Logan and right-handed pitchers Bob Buhl and Gene Conley, and possibly Bob Trowbridge.

A radiant smile illuminated the face of little Donald as he rose and said: "Good morning, Mr. Sales Manager."

Donald—The people of a territory cannot sing. Teacher—Why is that? Donald (explaining)—The geography says that the people of a territory have no voice, so how could they sing.

Young man—You don't want to buy any insurance, do you? Sales manager—No. Young man—I was afraid not, (starting to back toward the door).

Sales Manager—Wait a minute! I've dealt with salesmen all my life, and you're the worst I've ever seen. You have to inspire confidence, and to that you've got to have it yourself. Just to give you confidence that you can make a sale, I'll sign for a $10,000 policy.

Signing the application, the sales manager said: Sales Manager—What you have to do is learn some good techniques and use them. Young man—Oh, but I have. I have an approach for almost every type of businessman. The one I just used was my standard approach for sales managers.

A hunter claimed that his dog had the most sensitive nose of any animal in the world. He liked to tell of the time that he flushed a pheasant. The bird dashed for some underbrush and the dog was ordered to go in and flush it again.

NOT HOT: It used to be thought that dog days were exceptionally hot ones on which dogs might suffer. Dog days are so called because on these particular days in July and August, Sirius, the dog star, rises in conjunction with the sun. It can be seen in the morning.

County Postmasters Hold Annual Dinner

The annual Ulster County postmaster's dinner was held last weekend at Spindlers, Maple Hill. Roast beef was served. Postmasters from Long Island, Rhinebeck, Palenville and many other parts of the state attended. Field Service Officers Adrain Rosso, Edwin Doulin and Inspector-in-Charge Henry Montague from New York City, and State Vice-Presidents John Cass and Frank Burgher were present. Montague, guest speaker, gave a very interesting talk on the Post Office Department's inspection service. Field Service Officer Rosso spoke on Post Office Department policy of moving today's mail to today in a business-like way, emphasizing that all postal employees must do everything possible to give the postal patrons the best service.

In past years many local camera fans have found the Hudson Valley Lines an interesting target for their lenses. The show will be held at the club quarters at 541 Broadway, off the underpass, with automobile entrance off Pine Grove Avenue over Susan Street to the parking area.

Hits Record Height

LODRELL BANK, England (AP)—The American moon rocket launched this morning has already gone higher than any man-made object ever recorded on the world's largest radio telescope here, British scientists announced today. "Everything is going absolutely according to plan. We are plotting the position of the rocket to within half a degree," Prof. A. C. Lovell told newsmen as his giant steel saucer-shaped telescope tracked the American rocket through space. The instrument began receiving beep signals from the rocket at 8:52 a.m. today. Prof. Lovell said the rocket had passed the 30,000-mile level. He said his scientists were manning the 250-foot-wide telescope had never before recorded any manmade object so high out in space.

Scores U. S. Balloons

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union accused the United States today of using balloons for the purpose of seeking out targets on Soviet territory for atomic attack. It displayed what was identified as a downed American balloon equipped with cameras and film, which a Soviet spokesman said was evidence U.S. military authorities are looking for targets in the Soviet Union. A Soviet military aviation specialist said it had been intercepted by the Soviets only recently and declared it was not intended for meteorological observations as the Americans claimed in replying to previous Soviet complaints.

Quiz Polish Critic

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Marek Hlasko, a young literary critic of life in Communist Poland, was reported today being questioned by U.S. intelligence officers. Military officials would say only that the 26-year-old writer "is going through normal processing" for persons who defect from Communist countries. He was not available to reporters. Hlasko sought political asylum in West Berlin Wednesday. He had been in Paris for the last seven months publishing novels about the seamy side of life in Poland which had been refused publication in Warsaw.

Reds Accuse Thai Land

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union accused Thailand today of expelling two Russians because of "the demands of the aggressive course of the U.S.A. in Asia." The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said "Soviet public opinion is indignant at the senseless step of the Thai authorities." The foreign ministry in Bangkok announced Tuesday that a Soviet Embassy attaché and a correspondent of the official Soviet News Agency had been ordered to leave on charges of subversion. Thai officials did not elaborate on the charges.

Rockefeller "cannot divorce himself" from these Republican policies," he said, adding: "I think it is absurd for him to try to pretend that he would do something different than the philosophy of his party, which I don't agree with."

In the garment district, Harriman yielded to the near 80 degree temperatures and doffed his coat, continuing his tour in shirtsleeves. In Spanish Harlem, Rockefeller sat down at a meal of black beans and fried shrimp in a restaurant and recorded an interview in Spanish for a radio station that aims its broadcasts at the heavy Puerto Rican settlement.

He said state laws against discrimination should be more vigorously enforced and that rent control should be continued "while there remains a housing shortage." Later, in a statewide CBS telecast on film, Rockefeller attacked the Harriman administration as "feeble, complacent and ill-equipped to meet the needs of its citizens."

Renews 'Boss' Charges

He also renewed his charges that Harriman is boss-dominated, that the governor has fallen down in combating organized crime in the state and that New York's economic growth is lagging behind the rest of the country.

Upstate, the Republican candidate for U. S. senator, Rep. Kenneth Keating, also underlined the bossism issue. He told a GOP rally in Rensselaer that if the Democratic candidate, Frank Hogan, were elected to the Senate, "Tammany (Hall) would pounce" on the district attorney's office Hogan would leave.

Carmine DeSapio, leader of Tammany, Manhattan Democratic organization, engineered the nomination of Hogan at the State Democratic convention.

Hogan accompanied Harriman Friday on the tour of the garment district. Also shaking hands there were Lt. Gov. George De Luca and State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, both candidates for reelection. Hogan spent seven hours touring Manhattan as he walked 10 miles.

Elsewhere in Manhattan, a Republican leader in Harlem accused Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. of double-crossing and double-talking in endorsing the state Democratic ticket.

Harold C. Burton, a top-ranking member of the New York County GOP Committee, nevertheless urged Harlem citizens to vote for Powell on the Republican line. The Republicans nominated Powell as their candidate for Congress from the 16th District after he had been rebuffed by the Democrats. Powell later won the Democratic nomination in the primary. At the western end of the state, Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, shook hands in Niagara County from dawn to dusk. Wilson said the Democrats were responsible for the flight of industries from Western New York and accused Harriman of hindering farm legislation. He promised better treatment for farmers.

Keating Asks Halt Of Two Deportations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, Republican candidate for U. S. senator from New York, has asked the Immigration Service to halt the deportation of a Polish mother and her 14-year-old son.

Keating, in a letter Friday, said Mrs. Krystyna Jurkiewicz and her son, Krzysztof, had been warned they would face imprisonment should they return to Poland. Keating said the warning came from Mrs. Jurkiewicz's husband, who is in a Polish prison. He was jailed for attempting to flee the country, Keating said.

"It would be most unfortunate," Keating wrote to Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing, "if in these troubled times America were unable to find some way to help and encourage these and other anti-Communist escapees from Red tyranny."

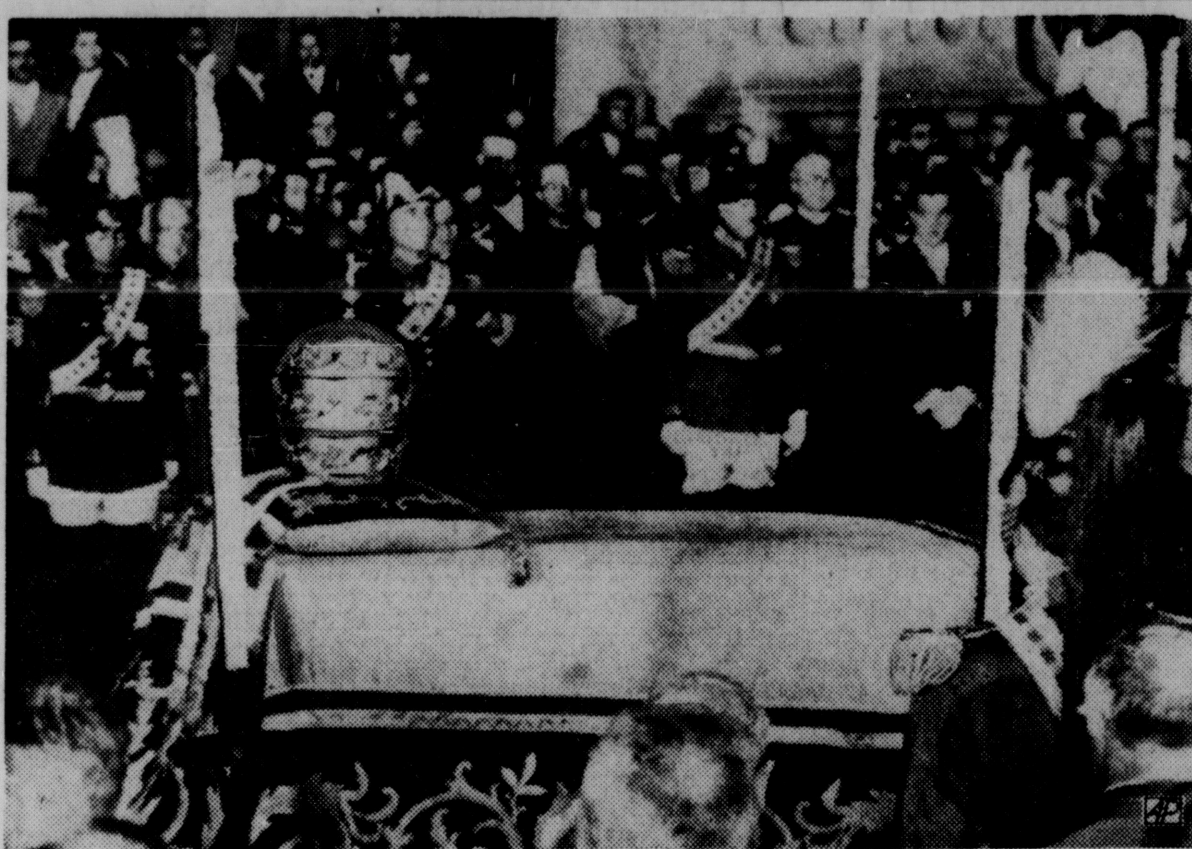

Keating said administrative relief had been granted to similar cases on the ground of compassion. Nuns and priests of the Vatican staff prayed throughout Friday night by the scarlet-draped coffin behind the massive doors of St. Peter's.

The solemn tribute at the red and gold catafalque, on which the coffin rested, ends with burial Monday in the grotto beneath the basilica.

Empty Coffin Symbolic An empty symbolic coffin will remain in St. Peter's through three special Requiems next Friday, Saturday and Sunday which close the mourning period. Requiem Masses will be celebrated Sunday in Roman Catholic churches throughout the world. At the slow, measured pace set by the tolling of the giant cannon, the master bell of the basilica, the body was carried through the majestic square of St. Peter's as darkness gathered. Nearly a million persons had lined the 18-mile route from the papal summer residence to watch the glass-walled hearse bring the pontiff home to his native Rome. The procession stopped at the pontiff's Roman See, the basilica of St. John Lateran, then wound through hushed downtown Rome to the Vatican.

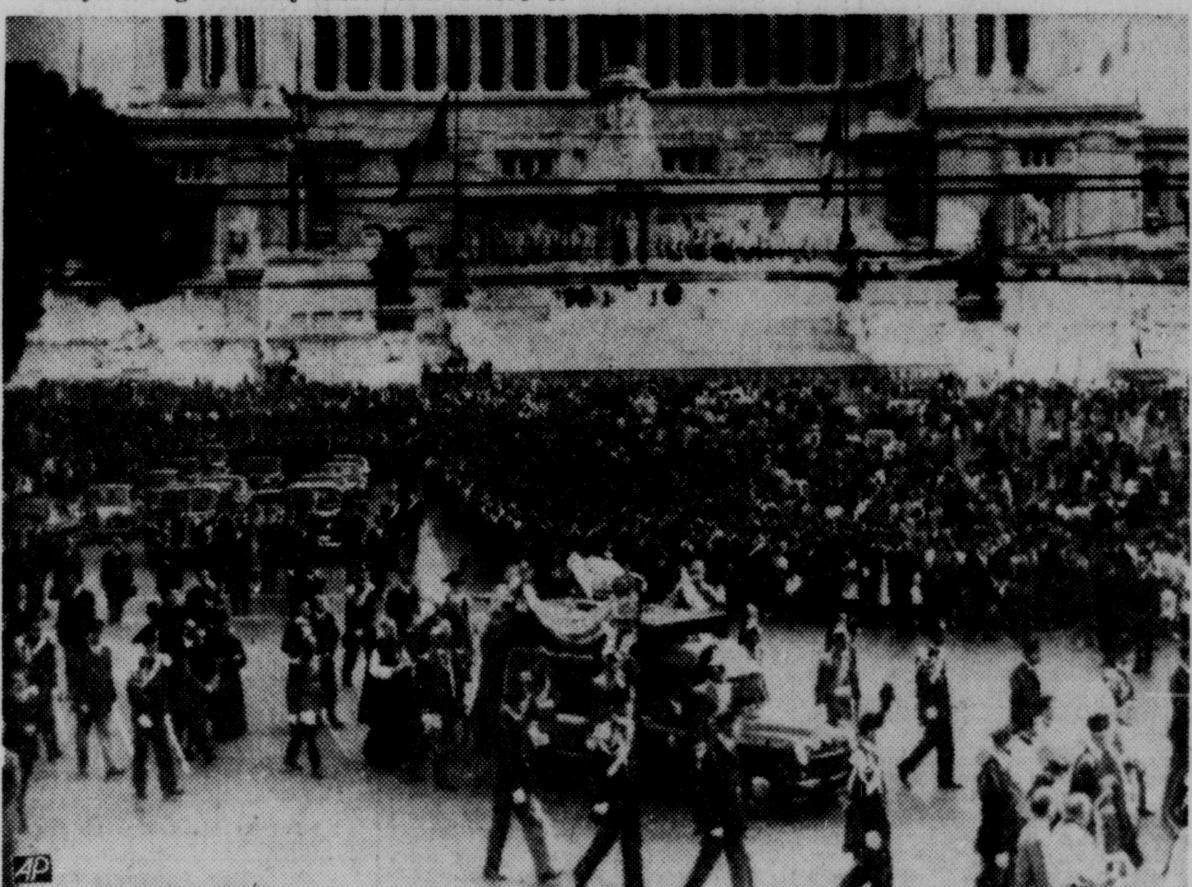

Tremendous Throng Quiet The tremendous throng was silent as the archpriest of the basilica, Federico Cardinal Tedeschi, led the way into St. Peter's basilica.

All the cardinals now in Rome waited as the coffin was placed on the six-foot-high catafalque in the middle of the church. There it remained in flickering candlelight as four Noble guards in plumed

The rising sun glinted through the windows of the massive dome, adding to the illumination given off by the candles surrounding the catafalque.

jailed in Slaying

BOONVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Jean Marie Murphy, expecting her seventh child, was sent to jail Friday night in lieu of bail charged with the shotgun slaying of her husband.

The 26-year-old woman waived examination during her arraignment before Peace justice Charles Scherz and was ordered held for a grand jury. Bail was set at $5,000.

Police accuse Mrs. Murphy of shooting her husband, Leo, 33, early Friday after a domestic argument. Mrs. Murphy said she meant only to scare her husband, not kill him, police quoted her as saying. Murphy was a civilian employee of Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome, which is near this Adirondack village.
